

CONVICT GOV. McCRAE—JAILED

NO PLEDGE OF FORD, SAYS COOLIDGE

Startling Scandal Is Hinted at Inquiry.

BY DONALD EWING.

(Picture on back page.)

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—The senate agriculture committee today opened its own little scandal, producing testimony that sharply before Henry Ford announced himself for Coolidge for President.

Mr. Coolidge sent the Detroit news that he planned to "deliver" the Muscle Shoals to Ford.

The inference of a gentlemen's agreement between Ford and Mr. Coolidge, whereby the manufacturer would not set out any personal presidential ambitions to step into the Alabama arena, brought a prompt denial from the White House. The President, in a prepared statement tonight, said that he ever promised "delivery" and said that the Muscle Shoals question would be decided by congress on its merits.

Startling Stories Forecast.

This latest bit of Washington excitement may be followed by still more startling testimony in connection with the Muscle Shoals, for there were reports tonight that when the strings on the Muscle Shoals package are loosened again, the will pop forth evidence of $200,000 profit on Muscle Shoals land secured to the family of a public official if Ford gets the site.

The "delivery" testimony came from the Secretary of War Weeks on the stand, an inadvertent release of the chairman Norris (Rep., Wis.) first called, his committee in a private session, where it was decided to let the record a telegram, sent April 13 by James M. Miller, who asked himself to be local Ford representative, to Ernest Liebold, Ford's assistant secretary.

Quoted Verbatim "To Deliver."

In a private interview had with Coolidge this morning, the telegram reads, "he said incidentally, I am friendly to Mr. Ford, but with one exception, I would not like to see him take Mr. Ford's place. I would not like to see anything that will make it difficult for me to deliver Muscle Shoals to him, which I am trying to do."

While President didn't say so, Mr. Weeks has been consulting with President this morning in view of Mr. Ford's reported interview today's.

The Ford interview was one of his on the Muscle Shoals, which were not released after receipt of the telegram. It then was brought out that White House records showed Miller to have been with the President that morning, and Mr. Weeks admitted that Ford last had repeatedly asked him over sale of the Gorgas dam, he also was attacking Coolidge, who the President approved the sale.

NEW YORK GIVES CARDINAL HAYES REGAL WELCOME

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—New York gave Cardinal Hayes one of its greatest welcomes today on his return from his elevation at Rome.

Small boats loaded with emblems, citizens and gayly dressed with flags bobbed about the Manhattan as it came into quarantine, saluting the cardinal with jets of steam and shrieking a wild but hearty greeting.

This welcome was continued by hundreds of thousands on Manhattan Island. Cheering crowds filled the downtown streets in which young Patrick J. Hayes, an orphan boy, had played with his comrades more than half a century ago.

The progress along 5th avenue was another great triumph and the welcome was closed with a beautiful and touching ceremony in the cathedral, where 8,000 of the favored children of the diocese waved American flags, sang a hymn of welcome, and presented the prelate with "a spiritual bouquet."

NEW CAMERA CAN TAKE MOVIES OF A CANNON BALL

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—Moving pictures of projectiles in flight can be taken with a camera developed at the bureau of standards. It has been used for studying the effect of the blast on the projectiles. The blast is formed by the gases in the gun which are ejected with great velocity as soon as the projectile leaves the muzzle. It completely surrounds the projectile during the first few feet of its flight, and with large guns its force is enormous.

The camera can make 250 pictures a second, but several thousand could be taken by increasing the number of lenses.

It is believed this camera can determine the velocity of a projectile after it has passed through armor plate. Ordinary methods cannot be used because of the flying particles of armor, but the camera can be protected.

TEACHER RUBBED GUM OVER FACE OF PUPIL, CHARGE

Because she is charged with having ordered a pupil to put gum on the end of her nose and smell it, and then smeared it all over the child's face when the girl did not obey, Mrs. Ruby M. Smith, a teacher in the Hayes school, 255 North Leavitt street, was suspended and is now awaiting trial before the board of education.

She was suspended on charges of insubordination and conduct unbecoming a teacher filed by Miss Mary E. Twiligh, the principal.

Miss Twiligh also charges that Mrs. Smith locked six boys in the cloak room after school hours and left them there and that on another occasion she refused to admit the principal to the classroom, locking her out.

GIVE UP HOPE FOR 114 IN MINE TRAP

22 Bodies Are Recovered After Gas Explosion.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 28.—A total of twenty-two bodies had been recovered tonight from the Benwood mine of the Wheeling Steel corporation, where 114 miners were entombed today by an explosion. Nineteen of the bodies were found by rescue workers in the Brown Run shaft, while the other three were located in the main passageway.

One of the dead miners was identified as George Holliday, Jr., son of the superintendent of the mine. Superintendent Holliday declared that a check disclosed 114 miners were in the mine when the explosion occurred. One hundred remained unaccounted for and hope that many may be found alive has been practically abandoned.

NO EVIDENCE OF GAS.

I. M. Scott, president of the Wheeling Steel corporation, declared that while the mine was an old working, no evidence of gas had been found until two months ago. A small explosion occurred then, he said, but an airblast was sunk immediately and work had progressed without difficulty for sixty days. Mr. Scott was unable to assign any cause for the explosion.

The day force had been in the mine only fifteen minutes when those on the surface were started by a violent quake and a distant rumble. All knew what had happened and men, women, and children, taking no heed of a drizzling rain, dashed to the mine mouth. They found the entry blocked by a cave-in and through this mass of rock and earth drifted sprays of smoke and gas.

DAWES IN N. Y.; NOT ENTRY FOR VICE PRESIDENT

Says Plan Will Win and Save Europe.

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, Owen D. Young, and Henry M. Robinson, American business men who drew up the Dawes plan for the settlement of the reparations question and the economic restoration of Europe, returned to America today on the Levathian.

The three economic experts made public a joint statement in which they urged participation of Americans in the execution of the plan, particularly with respect to the flotation of the $200,000,000 German loan. The statement said the proposed loan would be sound and amply secured, would start the Dawes plan working, would restore economic tranquility and buying power in Europe, and would lead to an era of peace and good will.

THINKS IT WILL WORK QUICKLY.

Gen. Dawes, in an informal interview, asserted he had every reason to believe the plan would be adopted by all the governments involved, and that it should not take long, once it is adopted, to put the plan into operation. The joint statement handed to reporters said:

"We have no comments to make on the plan; as written, it must work. Any word of ours might excite controversy or be regarded as an interpretation. The spirit of the plan and its broad outline must be its persuasive force. The endeavor of both committees was to make their reports clear and keep them clear from technical language and discussion.

REGARD U. S. AS IMPARTIAL.

"The plan contemplated the participation of Americans in some degree in its execution. This we believe to be in every way desirable. The judgment of America is welcomed by all countries in every critical decision because of her impartiality. This has been true in most effective conferences since the armistice and will continue to be in future ones.

"The loan contemplated by the plan is, in our opinion, sound, and we believe will be participated in by all European countries. The people of the United States will be asked through private bankers to take their share.

"The detailed purpose for which the loan is to be used is relatively unimportant. It is enough to know that it will be effective to start the plan in motion to secure economic tranquility in Europe, to restore their buying power, to return the thoughts and energies of their people to production and finally to be a step in the substitution of peace and good will for war and prejudice.

MEANS MUCH TO EUROPE.

"The plan means much to the allies; it means more to Germany in her present economic condition. It asks her to assume a burden of taxation commensurate with, but not greater than, that of the other countries of Europe. It does not require impairment of her standard of living.

"We have assumed the good faith of Germany in the acceptance and execution of a plan which she is able to fulfill. Every step taken by Germany thus far indicates that our assumption is well founded.

"The prompt acceptance of the report by the reparations commission and by the allied governments leads us to hope that the time of substantial completion is passed and that the controversy is at hand."

HE'S READY TO GO HOME.

Gen. Dawes said he intended to remain in New York over Sunday and expected to return to his home in Chicago unless he was wanted in Washington.

"We're through with our work," he said. "We've come back home, and we've nothing to do with the plan any more."

Free for All Gun Fight in Boyle's Hall

Boyle as a gathering place for the members of Electrical Workers' union 134 at Ogden avenue and Washington boulevard.

The body was picked up a few moments after three wounded members of Boyle's union had been spirited away from the hall and carried to doctors' offices and hospitals by their comrades. A free for all fight in the hall in which more than twenty-five shots are said to have been fired, furniture overturned, and empty pistols left lying on the blood-stained floor preceded the general exit.

FIND HALL DARK.

Squads of police arriving from the Desplaines street station and the detective bureau found the hall deserted and dark, and the doors locked. A few union men found loitering in the vicinity were arrested and questioned. All admitted having heard the fusillade of shots, but all maintained the usual Camorra-like silence as to details.

LIST OF WOUNDED.

After a checkup at hospitals and doctors' offices the police located the following wounded:

WILLIAM DEVER, 32 years old, 4350 Berkeley avenue; shot three times in back and once in the right side; taken to the Washington Boulevard hospital.

GEORGE W. DIERDORF, 72 years old, 1520 Irving Park boulevard; shot in the mouth; taken to the Jefferson Park hospital.

GEORGE A. UNDERWOOD, 31 years old, 6959 Pingree street; found at his home with three bullet wounds in the right arm.

BILLS SHOOTING MYSTIFIES.

The police were mystified when informed that Bills, the dead man, had not been shot in the electrical workers' hall although his body was found but a few feet from the locked doors. Both unions are on strike.

THREE HUNDRED ICE CREAM DRIVERS ARE PREPARING TO STRIKE THURSDAY AND BILLS HAD BEEN ACCUSED BY CERTAIN MEMBERS OF LOCAL 717 OF DICKERING WITH THE EMPLOYERS FOR A SETTLEMENT AGAINST THE WISHES OF THE RAIL AND FLEET UNIONS.

TWO STRIKES IN PROGRESS.

A strike of electrical workers was called yesterday on the Illinois Merchants' Bank building by Boyle's union. The ice cream wagon drivers were holding a meeting in their hall last night at 617 South Ashland avenue at the same time that the advisory board—virtually the executive committee—of Boyle's union was holding its regular Monday night "complaint" hearing in the old synagogue. It is thought that Bills had applied for cooperation from the electrical workers in an attempt to tie up the ice cream plants and that a quarrel and shooting ensued.

THE POLICE WERE INFORMED THAT A FEW MINUTES AFTER THE REVOLVER BATTLE OCCURRED IN UNION PARK TEMPLE AND THE WOUNDED HAD BEEN CARRIED AWAY AND THE DOORS LOCKED ON AN AUTOMOBILE STOPPED IN FRONT OF THE BODY OF BILLS WAS DUMPED ON THE SIDEWALK. MEMBERS OF BOYLE'S UNION, A HALF DOZEN OF WHOM WERE HELD, DENIED BILLS HAD ATTENDED THEIR MEETING.

OVER 300 IN HALL.

According to statements made by the wounded and also by other witnesses, between 300 and 400 members of local 134 had been called before the advisory board for hearings on complaints made regarding alleged infractions of the union rules. One by one the members

INDIANA SEEKS OUSTER AFTER U. S. VERDICT

Judge Brands Him 'Worst Criminal.'

(Picture on back page.) Indianapolis, Ind., April 28.—Gov. Warren T. McCray, found guilty by a jury in federal court late today of using the mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud, was placed in the Marion county jail at 9:40. The jury was out only ten minutes.

McCray is to be held in jail until Wednesday, when Judge A. B. Anderson will sentence him. The penalty may be a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for five years, or both.

WHILE McCRAY WAS WAITING IN THE MARSHAL'S OFFICE BEFORE GOING TO HIS CELL, WORD CAME FROM KNIGHTSTOWN, THE HOME OF RAYMOND C. MORGAN, SPEAKER OF THE INDIANA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, THAT MORGAN WOULD BE IN INDIANAPOLIS TOMORROW TO CONFER WITH REPUBLICAN LEADERS REGARDING THE SITUATION.

PROCEDURE TO REMOVE.

The Indiana constitution, according to attorneys, provides only one method for the removal of the governor and that by action of the general assembly. The next regular session of the general assembly will open in January, 1925, and the only method provided in the constitution for the calling of a special session is by proclamation by the governor.

The fact that McCray, while in jail, will be unable to perform the duties of his office, attorneys say, will permit the office to devolve on Lieut. Gov. Emmett F. Branch of Martinsville.

Attorneys differ, however, on whether McCray is considered "unable to perform his duties" in the fullest sense of the term, and whether Lieut. Gov. Branch could legally call a special impeachment session.

UNDER THE INDIANA LAW IMPEACHMENT TRIAL COULD BE CONDUCTED IN THE SENATE WITH THE CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE STATE SUPREME COURT PRESIDING.

JUDGE DENOUNCES McCRAY.

In ordering the governor to jail, Judge Anderson described McCray as "one of the worst criminals" he had known in his twenty-one years on the bench.

"Honest men could come to but one conclusion in this case," Anderson said. "He has had a fair trial by a conscientious jury. In my twenty-one years on the bench I have seen bootleggers take the stand and commit rank perjury. It has been my invariable custom to commit these men to jail. I have never seen so many felonies committed by one individual."

THERE IS NO DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE LOWEST CRIMINAL AND THE HIGHEST.

ORDER TO JAIL SURPRISE.

Action of the court in ordering the governor to jail came as a complete surprise to McCray, who during the short recess before the jury reported telephoned his office in the state house and asked that his home be called and notified that he would be late getting home for supper.

McCray strove while in the courtroom to keep a brave face, but when some particular friend clasped his hand the other hand invariably went to his eyes to brush away a tear.

When one of the governor's attorneys was asked regarding an appeal he said: "We don't know. We are not sure. But my guess would be no."

The trial moved rapidly. Cross-examination of McCray by United States District Attorney Homer Elliott was completed at 3 o'clock and the defense called no other witnesses.

The arguments, given by Assistant United States District Attorney Dixon Bryman and Mr. Elliott, for the government, and M. A. Ryan and James W. Noel, for the defense, were completed at 5:05. Judge Anderson delivered his instructions to the jury, after which deliberations were begun immediately.

dead I can't want any conversation with you."

Governor's Voice Falters.
"Won't you let me explain, judge?" asked McCray, his voice quivering.

The judge said he would have to abide by the court rules and added: "If I were advising you, I'd advise you to do a lot differently from what you are doing."

District Attorney Elliott put another question to which objection was made by M. A. Ryan of the governor's legal staff.

"This gentleman," said Judge Anderson, indicating the witness, "has availed himself of a privilege. He wasn't bound to take the witness stand. He has availed himself of a privilege and he must take the consequences."

Admits U. S. Allegations.
McCray admitted allegation after allegation made by the government but in each case denied any intent to defraud.

He admitted signing the names of other persons to notes and sought to offer an explanation regarding his responsibility but Judge Anderson stopped him with:

"It's a strange thing that I could force another man's name to a note and make it a valid instrument."

Governor McCray's trial started in United States District court before Judge Albert B. Anderson Monday, April 21.

Approximately 150 witnesses, most of them bankers and business associates, were called by the government. They identified a mass of correspondence with the governor regarding notes, "entire paper" and financial statements sent the banks through the mails.

Banker Pleaded Guilty.
An indictment against McCray charging violation of the national banking laws and conspiracy to violate the national banking laws is still pending in federal court.

Amos D. Morris, former cashier of the Discount and Deposit State Bank of Kentland, of which McCray was president until his financial collapse, was named jointly with the governor and pleaded guilty. He has not been sentenced.

The report of a federal master in chancery, who conducted a hearing on the petition of three Fort Wayne banks to have the governor adjudged a bankrupt, is still in the hands of Judge Anderson.

Besides the federal indictments, McCray was named in fifteen true bills returned by the Marion county grand jury. The governor's trial on the first of these resulted recently in a disagreement of the jury.

MOVE TO PAY UP FOREIGN DEBTS GAINS IN RUSSIA

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
BERLIN, April 28.—For the first time since the Bolshevik revolution, the question of the payment of the Russian debt is being discussed in the Russian press.

The government is preparing the minds of the public for complete capitulation, especially as far as England is concerned.

Leon Trotsky, minister of war, himself is leading the campaign favoring the recognition of czarist war time and other debts. M. Zinoviev, head of the third international, opposes M. Trotsky here as he opposes everything that the war minister does.

In M. Trotsky's latest public speech he said:

"As long as we live among bourgeois capitalist countries we need their confidence. The war to obtain their confidence is not through world revolution or through the third international, but by paying our debts."

ATTORNEY SUES STOKES FOR FEE; DENOUNCES HIM

New York, April 28.—(United News.)—W. D. Stokes, the rich and elderly hair trigger litigator, whose endless rows in court have been chronicled for years, today was denounced by a lawyer who took part in the millionaire's campaign against Mrs. Stokes in the expectation of receiving $100,000.

Daniel Nugent asked judgment for $61,000 which he claims is still due and unpaid.

It was only another incident to Stokes, however, who has heard himself denounced many times before, especially by counsel for his wife, whom he once accused of infidelity with his own son by a former marriage.

FINED FOR ANNOYING WOMAN.
Charles Baldwin, 37, painter, 1403 Sherman avenue, Evanston, was fined $100 yesterday by Justice Loren for annoying Mrs. Rauphorst Hall, colored, in Evanston Sunday night.

Fines levied on Mrs. C. M. Coles, of carmen, for driving a car on the city streets April 26, on a license sold out, ranged from 5 cents to 50 cents per month, and averaged 15.95 cents per month.

CITY'S FIGHT ON TYPHOID TOLL NEVER ENDING

Disease Ravages Reduced by Vast Projects.

Chicago's typhoid death rate, which was the highest of any large city in the nation in 1891, has been reduced to the lowest. The sanitary district canal has contributed largely to that result. The following is the second of three articles giving a glimpse of the protection to public health afforded by the works of the district.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

At the rate this city has been traveling the last four months, fifty-one persons will die of typhoid fever in Chicago this year. But, if the grim reaper were harvesting now at his swiftest pace of 1891, the 1924 death toll would be 5,056.

That is the difference in the hazard of water-borne diseases before and since the drainage canal was opened. This vividly illustrates the significance of a typhoid death rate of 1.7 in 1924 and of 172 in 1891 per 100,000 of population.

Typhoid has a lowly origin, even among diseases where passage is unhonored. It is conceived in slime, thrives in filth, and is spread principally by water, milk, and food taken into the mouth. Its presence proves contamination or pollution.

Practically Eliminated.
But Chicago has cleaned up in the last 25 years. More than ninety-eight parts of its typhoid dirt have been eliminated. The less than 2 per cent of remaining menace is forced into the city by human carriers, and by travelers and foods from infected districts.

To arrive at the honor of being called the freest large city on earth from typhoid, Chicago has spent at least $100,000,000. It is continuing to spend. Last year and this it has slipped from the place of prominence.

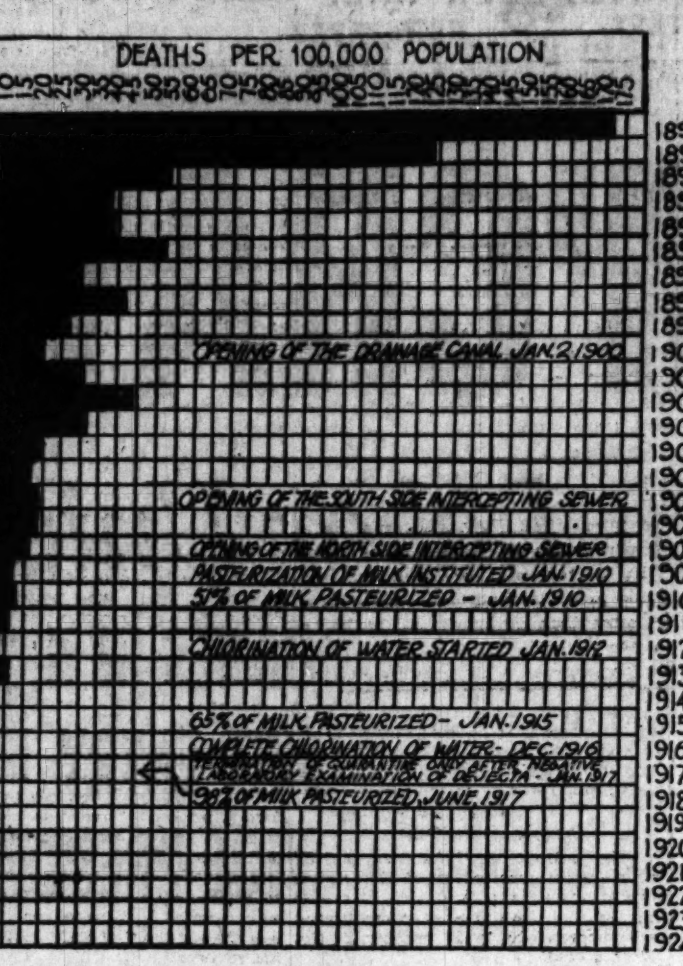

The typhoid rate has increased slightly—and more than $20,000,000 has been appropriated for expenditure this year. Nearly all of it is for the purpose of preventing fatalities from death dealing germs in the water supply.

Must Continue to Spend.
The city must go on spending. It is unthinkable that the city should permit its average to flow out into the lake and mingle with the water that flows back through the tunnels for drinking and domestic purposes.

That was happening from time to time back in 1889 when the Illinois legislature permitted the formation of the Sanitary district to construct the drainage canal. That was when the typhoid death rate was around 53 per 100,000 in population. The next year it rose to more than 90 and in 1891 it soared to 172.

Then the city dug the dirt like beavers. The main canal, starting at

Typhoid Crusade Told in Figures

This diagram shows the record of the fight against the ravages of typhoid fever in the Chicago drainage district and illustrates the successful crusade against the dread disease through the instrumentality of the drainage canal.

Roby street on the south branch of the Chicago river, was started toward Lockport through the watershed which divides the St. Lawrence from the Mississippi basins. More than $27,000,000 was expended to build this canal, which reversed the flow in the Chicago river and caused the city's sewage to drain inland to the Des Plaines, Kankakee, and Illinois rivers.

That was opened in 1900, Jan. 2. The typhoid death rate that year fell to less than 46. It rose to more than 45 in 1905, and dropped back to 37 in 1907.

Build Intersecting Sewers.
Many sewers, principally in annexed territories north and south along the Chicago river, were started toward the lake. At once a large intersecting sewer was started from 73d street to 39th street, which intercepted all the sewage which previously had flowed into the lake. That job was completed in 1904. The typhoid death rate accordingly dropped to less than 25.

Two years later a large intersecting sewer cut off sundry north side sewers from the lake. The typhoid death rate dropped to less than 20.

At the same time work was in progress in removing the obstructions in the Chicago river. Dredging was being done and kinks were sliced off. More than $12,900,000 was spent in developing the river so that the current created in that stream would not interfere with navigation. The main canal channel was extended at a cost of $3,167,000.

and $2,523,000 more was spent in improving the Des Plaines river. In this period also there was being constructed the north shore channel—a canal from the lake at Wilmette to the north branch of the river. This gave a sewage outlet for several growing north side communities at a cost of $4,168,000. More intercepting sewers were being constructed, $2,452,000 being spent on the north side and $853,000 for boxes in other localities.

While pouring out all these millions to keep the sewage out of the water supply, the city health department started the pasteurization of milk in late 1905 or early 1910. The typhoid death rate dropped again. It went to 7 in 1915. It shot down less than 2 in 1917. The official figure is 1.7. Complete chlorination of the water was then in progress, and the next year 95 per cent of the milk was pasteurized. The typhoid death rate kept moving downward until it reached the neighborhood of 1 per 100,000 population in 1920. It was 1.1 in 1921 and was 1 even in 1922.

Runs the Whole Scale.
That attracted the attention not only of the American Medical society but the health officials of the larger cities of the world. Chicago had run the whole scale, from the worst to the best, in typhoid at a bare construction cost of $68,905,000 by the sanitary district.

For this aggregate expenditure of $97,593,000 Chicago had the fame for three years of being the freest city from typhoid in the world. Now certain interests are asking the congress of the United States to kick Chicago's health system in the ribs and throw it into the discard.

[Tomorrow some of the probable results of jacking the system will be summarized.]

STOKES' COUNSEL FIGHT TO QUASH CHARGE OF PLOT

Arguments were heard yesterday and will be resumed today on a motion to quash the indictments against W. D. Stokes, New York millionaire, and five co-defendants, charged with conspiracy to defame his wife, Mrs. Helen Zimwood Stokes, from whom he sought divorce. The hearing was before Judge Willis M. Cook.

Attorneys Weymouth Kirkland, John J. Healy, Daniel P. Nugent, representing Stokes, attacked the indictments. Mrs. Hattie M. Johnson and Robert Lee, two of Stokes' defendants, were in court.

Small Prosecutors' Methods.
Mr. Kirkland argued that the case was "tried" before the grand jury. He asserted that several "incompetent witnesses," including Mrs. Stokes, who testified against her husband, were allowed to appear before that body. He declared the jurors had been spurred to action by hearsay testimony of certain private detectives and prosecutors.

Mr. Healy, who is a former state's attorney, argued that the indictments had been returned after "impartial and scandalous manner" had been presented to the grand jury. He asked to be allowed to call several members of that grand jury to ask them to explain to the court the ideas which caused them to vote the true bills.

Judge Denies Healy Motion.
That motion was opposed by Assistant State Attorneys Thomas Marshall, William W. Smith, and Milton D. Smith. The court overruled Mr. Healy's motion and instructed counsel to appear this morning to present additional arguments.

The date of trial for the five defendants has been set for next Thursday if the motion to quash is denied. Mr. and Mrs. Stokes are expected to be in Chicago by that date.

Why Pushman's Is the Logical Place to Buy Oriental Rugs

Save This Advertisement for Reference

YESTERDAY we stated seven fundamental principles to observe in buying Oriental Rugs. Today we will tell you how Pushman's qualifies under each of these principles.

- 1. Reputation
We have sold rugs to 14,000 people more than once. Ask any one about Pushman's reputation. Ask the oldest Chicago resident you know.
- 2. Age of Store
Age indicates survival of the fittest. Pushman's is the oldest Oriental Rug house in the entire Midwest.
- 3. Purchasing Power
Volume purchases mean moderate prices without sacrifice of quality. Pushman's purchases of Oriental Rugs exceed in annual volume those of any other Midwest Oriental Rug store.
- 4. Selling Volume
Pushman's sell more Oriental Rugs per year than any other Oriental Rug store in the Midwest. Volume selling allows a smaller margin of profit per rug and, consequently, lower prices without sacrificing quality.
- 5. Size of Stock
Size of stock means a satisfactory selection. Pushman's stock is greater than that of any other Midwest Oriental Rug store.
- 6. Prices
Pushman's prices are plainly indicated in ink, and there is no deviation from these prices. This means definite value, dollar for dollar.
- 7. Guarantee
Pushman's Oriental Rugs, in most all cases, may be exchanged at full purchase price any time during a full year after purchase. This is a safeguard which only a thoroughly reputable store can afford to offer.

Don't Wash Furniture
Here's a Better Way Than the Soap-and-Water Way
Don't soap-and-water ruin your furniture. Follow the same method employed by the famous furniture house of Tobeys. To clean and restore the beauty of their finest pieces they use a secret shop formula, now commercialized in the form of Tobeys Polish.
Use Tobeys Polish on furniture and woodwork of all kinds. Cleans and restores the fine finish instantly. No hard rubbing. No waiting to dry. Popular sizes, 30c, 60c, $1.00, $1.50 and $3.00, at dealers everywhere.

SCIENCE OPENS "TEMPLE OF SUN" AT WASHINGTON

President Praises Ideals in Dedictory Address.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—(Special.)—Cordial old Helios, the sun god, probably better known to you as Old Sol, has come into a new palace in the western world. It overlooks the banks of the Potomac, and it was dedicated today by the President of the United States—in one of his pitiful phrases—"the betterment of the human race by achieving a clearer knowledge of the truth."

The ancient mythmakers said that Helios had a magnificent palace in the east and another in the west, and Homer declared that on his way from the one to the other he saw and heard everything. Men don't believe in those mythical places any more, but President Coolidge invites them closely to scrutinize the veritable one of white marble and bronze which now adds a new splendor and a new source of instruction and interest to the gleaming new places of the capital city.

Girl Painted Decorations.
He looked aloft to the dome of the audience hall in which he was speaking—a dome blazing with gold and color from the brush of the young painter, Miss Hildreth Seligman, who was a prize winner in the memorable CHICAGO TRIBUNE mural competition.

The President looked aloft, and there, far above his head, was a marvelous arrangement of mirrors and telescopic lenses which catch the rays of cordial Helios at all hours and project upon a golden table on the floor beneath his image of a diameter of six inches. An image, this large enough to show the spots on cordial Helios, and the marvelous devices, so simple and child or layman coming neatly into the hall can operate them, will further show that child or layman the Fraunhofer lines revealing the chemical elements in the gaseous envelope of the sun.

On the wall above the platform from which the President was speaking, cordial Helios was pictured in his chariot, with Prometheus, trying to steal fire, in triumphant pursuit of the sun god's fire. To the left, buckled and blundered, Athens, representing victory, follows with serene eyes the victory which is to bring fire down to mankind and so start him on his still continuing march from beasthood.

A Gift from the Greeks.
Beneath this glorious fresco by Albert Herter, which fills the hall with a glow of color, are carved in stone the words of Prometheus, sent winging down the ages by Æschylus four and twenty centuries ago in his drama, "Prometheus Bound."

This spoke Prometheus to the American scientists assembled beneath the golden dome today, and the words were the spirit of the day:

"Hearken to the miseries that beset mankind. They were light and I made them to have sense and they had eyes to see, they saw in vain. They had ears, but heard not. But, like to shapes in dreams, throughout their length of days without purpose, they wrought all things in confusion. They had no sign either of winter or of flowery spring, nor of fruitful summer where on they would depend, but in everything they wrought without judgment, until such time as I taught them to discern the risings of the stars and their settings. Aye, and numbers, too, chiefest of sciences, I invented for them, and the combining of letters, creative mother of the muses, arts, wherewith to hold all things in memory. 'Twas I, and no one else, that contrived the mariner's faxen vessel cast to roam the sea. If ever man fell ill, there was no defense, but for lack of medicine they wasted away, until I showed them how to mix healing remedies wherewith they could ward off all their disorders."

Democrats Show They're Good at Playing Marbles

Democrats defeated a combination of Republicans and Farmer-Labor senators in the annual marble contest. Left to right: Senator Magnus Johnson of Minnesota, Farmer-Labor; Senator L. S. Overman of North Carolina, Democrat; Senator Samuel Ralston of Indiana, Democrat, and Senator S. D. Fess of Ohio, Republican. Senator Ralston won the match by knocking the last marble out of the ring.

Here the sum of the whole matter—every act possessed by man comes from Prometheus.

For the scientists who sat before the President the ancient words of sun-purging Prometheus were their challenge and their declaration to the modern world, and the President said they had a right to make them such. Here are phrases from his speech of dedication of the new Temple of the Sun and the new home of American science, a speech closely followed throughout and warmly applauded in places:

"The scientific man is rendering the earth to reveal its secrets. Truth must prevail for the betterment of mankind, and with the energy that men of science are putting into problems of research, Diogenes now would have a chance to lay down his quarter staff and lantern and rest, if he would turn his search in their direction."

"This magnificent building provides a new day in scientific research. A new sun is rising. It is destined to illuminate the scientific world by illuminating this hall. One of the most important possibilities for service of your organization, the National Academy of Sciences, lies in its opportunity for inspiring the American people to insistence upon having the truth and nothing but the truth regarding everything that touches our life as a nation."

"If there be one thing in which America is preeminent it is a disposition to follow the truth. It was the moving impulse of the founders, and it has been followed in the great decisions of the nation throughout its history."

The President's seat for definitions asserted itself early in his speech, and he gave this one:

"By science I mean the careful assembling of facts, their comparison, and their interpretation."

Washington and Jefferson.
George Washington he described as "the first President of the United States to see the necessity of research work in this country," and to Jefferson he credited the establishment of the first large paleontological laboratory in this country. It was in the east room of the White House, where Jefferson himself arranged the fossils for study.

The President's speech was packed with information and alive with enthusiasm.

Prof. Albert Abraham Michelson of Chicago university, premier of living scientists, accepted the million and a half dollar building and its additional endowments of three and a half millions on behalf of the National Academy of Sciences.

Those gifts were made to the academy by the Carnegie corporation and were supplemented by a fund of $85,000 contributed by American citizens for the purchase of the land on which the building stands.

NEW U. S.-CANADIAN TREATY MAY SAVE CHICAGO SEWAGE PLAN

Washington, D. C., April 22.—(Special.)—Reports that a new international treaty between Great Britain and the United States dealing with water withdrawals from the great lakes is in contemplation came today into the committee hearing today on bills which would let Chicago divert enough water to handle its sewage.

While discussing the present treaty, which gives Canada 36,000 cubic feet per second to this country's 20,000 feet, Gen. Beach of the army engineering staff was asked directly if Canadian power interests were not seeking more water than they are now allowed. He hesitated in answering, and the matter of a new treaty was mentioned by Chairman Dempsey.

"But, perhaps negotiations along that line are an angle you do not care to discuss," he said.

"I don't think I do right now," answered Beach.

The witnesses opposing Chicago's withdrawals are expected to finish their testimony Wednesday with the Chicago delegation, headed by William Healy, going on Thursday.

Search All Present at Checker Gunman's Trial

Every one who enters the courtroom of Judge Hosea Wells during the trial of Max Ralston for the murder of Frank Sexton in a Checker taxicab war will be searched for weapons. The precaution was taken as the trial opened yesterday to guard against a repetition of the trouble last week, when John K. Rose, Ralston's pal and co-defendant, was shot to death by Patrick Sexton, 1325 Washburne avenue, father of the murdered man.

Sanity Trial on June 23 for Warren Lincoln, Slayer

A jury trial to establish the sanity of Warren Lincoln, Aurora lawyer and horticulturist, who killed his wife and her brother and then sealed their heads in a block of cement, will open in Geneva on June 23. It was agreed yesterday. If he is found to be sane his trial on the murder charges will follow immediately.

MAL DAUGHERTY ELUDES SENATE BY HABEAS WRIT

Cincinnati, O., April 22.—Federal Judge Smith Hickenlooper today allowed M. S. Daugherty, brother of Harry M. Daugherty, former United States attorney general, a writ of habeas corpus under a personal bond of $5,000 after John J. McGrath, deputy sergeant at arms of the United States senate, had served a warrant charging Daugherty with contempt.

The writ is returnable forthwith and calls for Mr. Daugherty's appearance during the spring, and coincidentally the rents in the university dormitories will increase 25 to 35 per cent," the letter states.

"The annual income of the university from Hitchcock hall will be increased from about $18,000 to $22,800. A liberal estimate of the expenses of the hall is about $11,000 annually. The university was making a profit at the old rate of rental, and at the new rate the profit may be as high as $10,000 a year."

"It seems reasonable that we should ask just what the university's policy is. How does the university consider itself justified in making profits from an endowed dormitory? Old residents here say that Mrs. Charles Hitchcock repeatedly made the statement that she wanted the rooms in this hall to be as low in rental as possible."

Breakfast Room Detained.
"She provided a breakfast room, but its operation, at Mrs. Hitchcock's continuous insistence, was not self-supporting. It was far from being a paying proposition financially, and the moment Mrs. Hitchcock died the service was discontinued."

After assuring President Burton that they did not wish to ally themselves with men who "can be called undesirable roomers" and that they are merely asking for information, the letter proceeds:

"If we are making a small contribution to the income of the university, we would rather know it than continue under false impressions. We doubt the truth of the assertion, so often heard, that the student does not pay for more than half of his education."

RENT RAISES AT HITCHCOCK HALL STIR U. OF C. MEN

Ask President Burton
for Explanation.

Following official announcement in the campus newspaper that increased maintenance costs have made it necessary to raise the rents approximately 20 per cent in both men's and women's dormitories at the University of Chicago, the boys of Hitchcock hall began to figure. Yesterday the house treasurer, Fred W. Appel, drew up a lengthy letter to President Ernest De Witt Burton, and last night it was being passed around for the signatures of more than seventy students living in the hall.

The letter asks the university president if the institution is running its dormitories at a profit, and if so, how it justifies itself in making money from an endowed building. They doubt that they don't believe the university is losing much money after they, the students, get through paying the bills.

Compare with Others.
"Throughout the Hyde Park district rents are being raised about 15 per cent during the spring, and coincidentally the rents in the university dormitories will increase 25 to 35 per cent," the letter states.

"The annual income of the university from Hitchcock hall will be increased from about $18,000 to $22,800. A liberal estimate of the expenses of the hall is about $11,000 annually. The university was making a profit at the old rate of rental, and at the new rate the profit may be as high as $10,000 a year."

Seek Boy, 15, as Kidnap
of Girl, 8, in Stolen Car

Fifteen-year-old James Sharnick, who escaped eight days ago from the Juvenile Detention home, is being sought for stealing City Comptroller M. J. O'Brien's automobile and then kidnaping a year-old Gertrude Freiler of 114 South Loomis street. Yesterday he invited her and her small brother to ride with him. Then he sent the boy home and drove off with Gertrude. Two hours later she was found, sobbing, in a Beverly railroad station.

Germ Diet Mate Held After Strange Tales to Grand Jury

New York, April 22.—(Special.)—Following the indictment of Clarence O. Baring, manufacturer and inventor, on a charge of attempting to murder his wife by putting arsenic and disease germs in her food, much of the detail case against him became public in White Plains.

The Westchester county officials revealed a weird story of intrigue, domestic difficulties, "another woman," and alleged efforts of poisoning in which it was said that Baring, posing as "C. Barnes," duped the Willard Parker hospital into giving him pneumonia, scarlet fever, and diphtheria germs.

He is held without bail, accused of administering these poisons, together with arsenic, in foods he prepared for his wife, who has an estate of $200,000.

Wife Springs the Trap.
The story disclosed by the authorities showed Mrs. Baring set the trap for her husband and presented a state trooper in the guise of a hospital laboratory worker, who watched while Baring obtained some germs. The vials containing the germs, and labeled "C. Barnes," were traced by the trooper, it is said.

Baring's defense, it was indicated tonight, will be insanity. He has told the prosecutor that in feeding her the germs he wished merely to make his wife so ill that she would agree to accompany him for her health to California, where he hoped to rid himself of a former school teacher with whom he had become friendly. Investigators learned that this teacher, a resident of Elizabeth, N. J., knew that Baring was married, but relied on his promises that he would obtain a divorce and marry her.

The prosecutor asserted that a month ago Baring asked his wife to let him, for safe keeping, have the will she had recently executed, the contents of which were unknown to him. Mrs. Baring, already suspicious of her husband, refused.

Older than Her Husband.
Mrs. Baring was the principal witness against her husband before the grand jury. She is a middle-aged woman, of fleshy build. Her manner is gentle, her voice soft, her face is kind and furrowed with drooping and lines. Her husband is 39—seven years her junior. The "other woman"—the Jersey teacher—is described as a "faded blonde beauty," but scarcely younger than Mrs. Baring.

Plot Started in November.
Baring's alleged efforts to poison his wife were said by the authorities to have begun Nov. 15 last, when he went to the Willard Parker hospital with an introduction obtained through Columbia university laboratory. They extended until April 13. By the latter date the investigators were certain, because of chemical analysis of foods he had served his wife, that they had a case against him. Mrs. Baring was then on her guard.

It developed that in his questioning the prisoner admitted he gave his wife poison when they were at the Hotel Biltmore here on March 28. Further questioning developed that Baring had induced his wife to use granulated sugar in which arsenic and disease germs were placed while he continued to eat food sugar.

Chemists who analyzed samples of food said the reason the arsenic did not kill was that it was present in too large quantities.

The story revealed tonight reached back to seven years ago, when Mrs. Baring, then a Mrs. Williams, a divorcee, took Baring as her third husband. He had experienced a hard struggle in life, but his wife became his financial backer, sinking $50,000, according to her attorney, Emanuel M. Steindler, in his business ventures, until he became finally eastern director of the Minneapolis Heat Regulator company at a salary of $10,000 a year.

Almost from the outset Mrs. Baring became suspicious of her husband's attentions to other women. She observed, when Baring promised "never to look at another woman again." However, according to the officials, he left last Monday for Norfolk with the Jersey school teacher, returning with her on a boat last night, going from the pier to his office and then to White Plains, where he was arrested.

Wife Is Strangely Ill.
In November, Mrs. Baring was seized with an illness which puzzled not only herself, but also her physician. For several months she believed she was to become a mother, but this notion was dispelled finally on her doctor's suggestion that poisonous agents were being introduced into her system.

FRANCO-BELGIAN ACCORD REACHED ON DAWES PLAN

Poincare May Pay Visit to MacDonald.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
LONDON, April 28.—The May number of the Fortnightly Review, which will appear in a few days, contains an article, entitled "Peace of War," which, it is stated, represents exactly the view of the British imperial defense committee, as expressed to Prime Minister MacDonald in reply to a question on the subject of French security. The writer, who is said to be a well known general, points out that, while the war ended in a political victory, it was never concluded from a military point of view. When the allied advance was stopped by the armistice the German army was only seven days off and modern methods of warfare were just beginning to evolve.

The expert says that France is not afraid of the present German armament, but it fears German technical skill, which, it believes, is working to develop new methods of warfare. France also believes that an invasion by Germany would necessitate English help, as in 1914, and is pressing for a military alliance with Great Britain which would provide especially for air force cooperation.

The French are now doing their utmost to meet the British fears over the growth in French air power and to prove that this is intended only for use against Germany. With this purpose in view, it has recently shown the British commission headed by Gen. Brooke Popham all over its air bases.

At today's meeting the Belgians stressed upon M. Poincare the pressing need for speed in securing the Dawes reparations expert plan, and it is understood that M. Poincare gave assurances of the French support in this matter. Marshal Foch was called in at this afternoon's session to give expert advice on Ruhr military matters. Marshal Foch outlined his views regarding amelioration of the military occupation and the possibility of a reduction in the occupational operations.

As the experts' plan provides for the German annuities in round sums, from which the occupational army costs are to be taken, it is in the interests of the allies to keep the occupation cost as low as possible in order to get more money for reparations.

BRITISH EXPERT SAYS WAR ENDED ONLY IN POLITICAL VICTORY

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
LONDON, April 28.—The May number of the Fortnightly Review, which will appear in a few days, contains an article, entitled "Peace of War," which, it is stated, represents exactly the view of the British imperial defense committee, as expressed to Prime Minister MacDonald in reply to a question on the subject of French security. The writer, who is said to be a well known general, points out that, while the war ended in a political victory, it was never concluded from a military point of view. When the allied advance was stopped by the armistice the German army was only seven days off and modern methods of warfare were just beginning to evolve.

The expert says that France is not afraid of the present German armament, but it fears German technical skill, which, it believes, is working to develop new methods of warfare. France also believes that an invasion by Germany would necessitate English help, as in 1914, and is pressing for a military alliance with Great Britain which would provide especially for air force cooperation.

The French are now doing their utmost to meet the British fears over the growth in French air power and to prove that this is intended only for use against Germany. With this purpose in view, it has recently shown the British commission headed by Gen. Brooke Popham all over its air bases.

At today's meeting the Belgians stressed upon M. Poincare the pressing need for speed in securing the Dawes reparations expert plan, and it is understood that M. Poincare gave assurances of the French support in this matter. Marshal Foch was called in at this afternoon's session to give expert advice on Ruhr military matters. Marshal Foch outlined his views regarding amelioration of the military occupation and the possibility of a reduction in the occupational operations.

As the experts' plan provides for the German annuities in round sums, from which the occupational army costs are to be taken, it is in the interests of the allies to keep the occupation cost as low as possible in order to get more money for reparations.

Germany Speeds Up Dawes Plan.
An indication that Germany is speeding its part in executing the Dawes expert plan was given today when the German government through its war bureau commission notified the reparations of foreign affairs with an expression of his hopes of helping put Europe on its feet.

See Opportunity for Peace.
"If I can only do anything before I leave this office," he said, "to remove some of the difficulties that have been in the way of a European settlement, if I can do anything to bring my country and France into closer friendship, if I can do anything to enable central Europe to find its way, not with hate and revenge in its heart, but with a new revelation of international cooperation, then I shall have felt I have done my day's work, and regard it as a pretty satisfactory one at that."

"The other day I spoke at York. Over part of my speech as reported in France there was some misunderstanding as to what I said."

"Let there be no doubt about it. I regard these experts' reports as being an opportunity for peace, for settlement, for agreement, which, if not taken by European statesmen, will be one of the most Godsend opportunities ever neglected and lost."

Does Not Want France Isolated.
"As far as I am concerned, I am not going to lose a single chance of putting these reports into operation if I can help it, and I want France to be with us."

"Some of our papers are talking about France being isolated. That is the very last thing I want. I do not want France to be isolated. I want to stand side by side with France. I want M. Poincare to know that France, so far as her security is concerned, has no better friend than this country."

"If we disagree as to the angle from which to look upon these things it is not that we do not want security, but we do not want friendship. I am profoundly convinced that these reports, joined together with the experience of the last four years, ought to make both France and ourselves see that by our common friendship and by that close working with Italy, working with Belgium, working with Germany a real chance to fulfill its work, a real chance to make a pledge and keep it—in that way, in that friendly way, in that allied way, we can open anew the doors to peace, happiness, and international cooperation."

The prime minister declared he was glad President Coolidge had referred to disarmament the other day.

"When disarmament comes to be discussed," he said, "the President will find no stronger support in the world for it than from me."

Mayors and Banks Confer Again on Traction Puzzle.
Four conferences between Mayor Dever and the traction lines' security owners have failed in reaching an agreement upon the personnel of a board to manage the properties until the administration's municipalization program shall have been realized. Another party is scheduled for Thursday morning.

Traction officials as well as the group of bankers acting on behalf of the security owners are insisting upon the right to select a majority of the board until the city's interest in the railway properties exceeds half their value. Mayor Dever and his advisers are equally insistent upon the city's right to control the lines.

BRITISH LABOR FACES HOT FIGHT ON FIRST BUDGET

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
LONDON, April 28.—The brief parliamentary recess ends tomorrow and the first business before the house of commons will be the introduction of the first socialist budget by Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer. While the Labor administration is without power to make any very radical change in the taxation system, some political writers declare Prime Minister MacDonald's government may force a crisis over the budget measure.

As usual in England, the utmost secrecy is preserved about the details of the budget, in order to prevent speculation, but it is pretty generally understood that Mr. Snowden proposes to reduce taxation on tea and sugar and perhaps beer, to increase death duties and the super-tax, and to ease taxation burden on smaller incomes. He also proposes to tighten up collection, and in this connection it is estimated that there are £20,000,000 ($122,000,000) income taxes and super-taxes in arrears, which he hopes to secure this year.

The most serious problem is that of the McKenna duties of 21 1/2 per cent which were imposed during the war on automobiles, watches, clocks, jewels, and other luxuries, and under the protection of which these British industries are flourishing. Every successive government has promised to abolish them and Mr. Snowden has announced that he is in favor of so doing, but there has been no outcry from the centers and some members of the Labor party are demanding that they be continued.

The government has the choice of three courses: To drop the duties altogether; continue them for another year; or leave the matter to a free vote of the house of commons. A decision will be taken at a cabinet meeting tomorrow morning before the assembly of the house.

PIONEERING in COFFEE

BACK in 1864 a firm set out to supply New England with good coffee. But they didn't stop there. As the country grew, they grew. When a railroad was pushed out and a town suddenly or slowly built up, Chase & Sanborn would be sure to entrust the sale of their coffees and teas to the very best grocerman they could find.

Then, about 1880, they originated the idea of packing coffee in hermetically sealed tins—that was to keep good coffee good.

To-day, wherever you go, in cities and villages that once might have been frontier posts or villages, you will find a certain bond among discriminating coffee drinkers. It is the goodness of Chase & Sanborn Seal Brand Coffee. It is packed in sealed tin cans—never in bulk.

INCREASES ON CORPORATE EARNINGS

Senate Defers
and Surtax

McCormick Has Surtax

In connection with the compromise in surtax rates learned that Senator McCormick, a member of the committee, has prepared a plan with a maximum of 27 per cent.

The brackets are arranged so that the McCormick plan would be much more material than the administration that the rates of the house bill, which maximum at 27 per cent.

The 27 per cent maximum McCormick plan applies on income above $10,000, as the 27 1/2 per cent maximum Longworth plan applies above $20,000. Under the Longworth plan, the maximum of 27 per cent is reached at $100,000, which the point at which the Mellon maximum of 25 per cent is only 27 per cent.

The McCormick surtax measure at 1 per cent between $10,000 and $20,000 and $12,000 and are the same. Mellon rates under the McCormick plan are slightly higher than the Mellon rates under the Longworth plan, when both the McCormick and Mellon plans propose a 13 per cent.

Above $68,000 the rates go higher until $84,000 is reached. The McCormick plan proposes a 22 per cent rate between $68,000 and $84,000. The margin between Mellon and McCormick rates slowly above that point, the McCormick rates increasing by 1 per cent for each $10,000 between $100,000 and $200,000, the McCormick rate 35 per cent.

A rate of 38 per cent applies between $200,000 and $1,000,000, a maximum of 37 per cent being above that point.

Amendment Proposed by Senator Smoot (Rep., Utah) is doubtful if the normal tax rates are taken up tomorrow. The desire of Senator Smoot to present an amendment to the surtax measure is in advance of action on income. The graduated tax amendment not ready today and may be tomorrow.

INCREASES TAX ON CORPORATION EARNINGS TO 14%

Senate Defers Normal and Surtax Rates.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., April 28.—(Special.)—An increase in the tax on corporation earnings from 12½ to 14 per cent as recommended by the senate finance committee was approved by the senate today. The increase is in lieu of the capital stock tax, which is to be repealed under the recommendation of the committee but upon which action was not reached today.

The senate rejected the committee amendment restoring the tax on telephone and telegraph messages which was repealed in the house bill.

Democratic senators were not ready to take up the normal and surtax rates today and at the request of Senator Simmons (Dem., N. C.), ranking minority member of the finance committee, action was deferred.

McCormick Has Surtax Plan.
In connection with negotiations for a compromise in surtax rates it was learned that Senator McCormick (Rep., Ill.), a member of the finance committee, has prepared a schedule of rates with a maximum of 37 per cent. The brackets are arranged in such a way that the McCormick schedule would be much more satisfactory to the administration than the Longworth rates of the house bill, which fixes the maximum at 37½ per cent.

The 37 per cent maximum of the McCormick plan applies on that portion of income above $1,000,000, whereas the 37½ per cent maximum of the Longworth plan applies above $200,000. Under the Simmons plan, which has a maximum of 40 per cent, a rate of 37 per cent is reached at $100,000. The McCormick rate on income above $100,000, which the point above which the Mellon maximum of 25 per cent applies, is only 27 per cent.

The McCormick surtax rates commence at 1 per cent between $10,000 and $12,000 and are the same as the Mellon rates until 8 per cent is reached at $24,000. From that point the McCormick rates are slightly less than the Mellon rates until $68,000 is reached, when both the McCormick and Mellon plans propose a rate of 12 per cent.

Above $68,000 the rates go along together until $84,000 is reached, when the McCormick plan proposes 23 per cent instead of 25 per cent, as in the Mellon plan. The margin between the Mellon and McCormick rates widens slowly above that point, the McCormick rates increasing by 1 per cent for each $50,000 between $100,000 and $500,000, the McCormick rate at $500,000 being 35 per cent.

A rate of 36 per cent applies between $750,000 and $1,000,000, the maximum of 37 per cent being effective above that point.

(Amendment Proposed by Simmons.)

It is doubtful if the normal and surtax rates are taken up tomorrow in view of the desire of Senator Simmons to present an amendment for a graduated tax on corporation earnings in advance of action on income taxes. The graduated tax amendment was not ready today and may not be tomorrow.

Senator Smoot (Rep., Utah), chairman of the finance committee, in commenting on the surtax situation said that in offering substitute surtax schedules following the prospective date of the Mellon rates he may not propose higher than a maximum of 32½ per cent or 35 per cent.

Senator Smoot also said he had no

AND IF THE FLAG SHOULD EVER FALL, IT WOULD BE HIS JOB TO CLIMB OUT AND REPLACE IT

intention of offering a substitute for the Mellon normal tax rates of 3 and 6 per cent.

Discussing the surtax situation, Senator Simmons expressed confidence that the Democratic surtaxes would be approved.

Tax on Corporation Earnings.
The senate approved the increase in the tax on corporation earnings from 12½ to 14 per cent without a record vote. Senators McKellar (Dem., Tenn.) and Dial (Dem., S. C.) spoke in opposition to any increase, but most of the other Democrats consented to the substitution of an increased corporation tax for the tax on capital stock of corporations, but reserved the right to vote for an amendment changing the form from a flat tax to a graduated tax.

Senator Jones (Dem., N. M.), a member of the finance committee, in advocating a graduated tax, said that much of the evasion of taxes comes through the formation of corporations to escape the payment of high surtaxes on individual incomes. He pointed out that corporations pay no surtaxes and that in the case of large incomes a corporation has an advantage over an individual.

Restoring Levy on Messages.
Senator Smoot, in explaining to the senate the reason for restoring the tax on telegraph and telephone messages, repeal of which was provided in the house bill upon the recommendation of Secretary Mellon, said that retention of the tax was considered the most feasible way of raising additional revenue. He pointed out that the revenue from this tax amounts to $34,000,000, and said that it was an easy tax to administer and caused less hardship than many other taxes.

O'RYAN CHARGES POLITICAL BUNK HIDES TAX PLAN

Political buncombe versus hard, cold facts. The difference between the Mellon tax plan and the plans of those who oppose it is the difference between a statesman and a politician. The statesman deals in facts and proved figures. The politician deals largely in bunk.

Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan, chairman of the committee in support of the Mellon proposals, delivered himself of these assertions yesterday while he stopped off in Chicago on his way to Los Angeles. He is on a tour of the country speaking in behalf of the Mellon plan and the league of nations. On the latter he says he is "sold" and he continues to fight for it, as he fought in the war in France.

SHERMAN SAID WHAT WAR IS; SO DO MINISTERS

But Their Language Is Different.

Methodist ministers of Chicago agreed yesterday to let the "pinks" do the slacking, if the time for fighting ever comes again.

There was no harping about youth in the meeting room in the Temple building where they gathered in special session to pass their own resolution condemning war, for presentation to the general Methodist conference at Springfield, Mass., this week.

Instead there were veterans, to more than one of whom the civil war was no mere historical record. They condemned right and left and steered the middle passage.

They even left talking about the "I will not fight" creed, to the "pinks."

Against Principle of War.

"We are all against the war system. We are, therefore, all pacifists," declared Dr. P. D. Stone, superintendent of the western district and a co-framer of the resolution which the meeting finally passed. "But the doctrine of nonresistance is an entirely different subject from the attitude of the church and government on war."

He did not talk like the Youth movement, did Dr. Stone. He talked like an honest business man who believes in going to church and practices his belief.

"Nor do we condemn men who have taken part in war," he explained. "We may condemn the war system as un-Christian, just as we condemned the liquor traffic. But every man who walked up to the bar and took a drink of beer was not un-Christian, nor are the men who have been in battle."

"As for my own theology, I am perfectly willing to take my theology of war from Gen. Sherman. We phrase a little differently, perhaps. We say, 'War is un-Christian.' He said, 'War is hell.'"

Resolutions Adopted.
There was little discussion as the Methodist ministers adopted their memorial to the conference by a vote of 69 "for," and none against. "Whereas: We realize that the war system is inherently wrong and un-Christian," their resolution read, "and, 'Whereas: We believe that what ever evolutionary purpose war may have served in the past, in the future it will prove futile as a means of securing any great social end; therefore, be it—"

"Resolved: That we memorialize the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church to place itself on record as being opposed to the whole war system with its secret treaties, military alliances, unjust economic concessions, competitive 'preparedness' programs—and that in no way will we participate in any such movements as history has conclusively shown lead to war."

Take Haley's Magnesia-Oil—milk of magnesium and mineral-oil combined

When nature relaxes her vigilance and permits the bowels to become clogged with accumulating waste matter, a tablespoonful of Haley's Magnesia-Oil, once or twice a day, will restore the bowels to their normal activity.

A perfect combination of milk of magnesia and pure mineral oil, Haley's Magnesia-Oil provides, at one time an efficient antacid for disordered stomach and a most natural lubricant for the bowels.

The mineral-oil carries the milk of magnesia straight to the lower bowel, where it is most required. It is harmless, causes no griping or nausea, and has only the palatable taste of magnesia, which is lost entirely when it is mixed with milk.

Buy a bottle of Haley's Magnesia-Oil today, and keep it always on hand. If your druggist can't supply you we will mail postpaid on receipt of price. Trial size, 35c; family size, $1.

POLICE BREAK UP MORBID MOB AT STOPA HOME

Thousands Fight to See
Bier of Wanda.

Police and firemen were called late last night to drive away the morbid thousands who thronged Augusta street and spilled into Ashland avenue—all impatient to stare at the coffin of Wanda Stopa, the studio girl and erstwhile lawyer whose venture into Bohemia ended when she shot Henry Manning and then, the following day, swallowed poison.

At 10 o'clock Wanda's family, disgusted by the invasion of curious men, wide-eyed women and giggling girls, telephoned the police and asked that the endless procession be stopped.

5,000 Before Home.
Throughout the entire evening the crowds had come. At 8 o'clock 5,000 persons swarmed in front of the building at 1605 Augusta street, and squads of policemen were waiting in the business of maintaining order.

Ten abreast, the "mourners" were packed in a line that was two blocks long. They surged up the narrow stairway to the third floor apartment where, in a plain front parlor, the casket rested beneath its flowers. There were floral offerings from the Kent College of Law, where Wanda had studied jurisprudence in the days before she haunted the north side art colony; from "the boys at the district attorney's office," at which she served as an assistant prosecutor after leaving the law school; from a Polish club which she knew in her girlhood.

Some of the wreaths were sent anonymously, and there was one bouquet from a girl whom, the sorrowing family explained, Wanda had once saved from a life of shame.

"At last you have found peace," the inscription read. "I do not forget."

Even Try Back Doors.
The throngs outside increased, and the banisters strained with the press of people. Some of the curious, unwilling to await their turn, crept up the rear stairway and tried to force an entrance through the back door.

Then came the appeal to the police. Twenty-five of them rushed with drawn clubs driving the crowds away from the entrance. There were screams, laughter, a few curses from the disappointed curiosity seekers. Two women were clubbed by the police.

For a time it seemed that the crowd would win out, and a call was sent in to the fire department. The apparatus arrived just as the throng began to disperse.

Funeral to Be Private.
Relatives of the dead girl announced that none except friends of the family would be allowed in the apartment today. The funeral will be held at 2:30, with the Rev. John Fryxell, reading the service. The young woman who found life too slow and unlighted among her Polish countrymen is to be buried by them in the National Bohemian cemetery.

In a dimly lighted room furnished with "antiques" and gorgeously splashed with colorful Chinese hangings—and with bits of ash and bags of food, newspapers and food—the "friends who understood" Wanda, "the light," gathered to complain of the treatment the press had given her—and them.

"We didn't meet the train that brought her body. We haven't been to the home. We don't want to intrude on the family," say the friends for whom Wanda gave up her mother and brothers and her Little Poland of childhood.

True Story Told.
"The true story of Elaine (that's what they call her these friends 'who speak her language') will never be known," sighed another between puffs of a cigarette. "Smith made love to her, promised to marry her; grew tired and cast her off; her heart didn't mend in four months and she came back."

"Not to kill Smith," was the swift interruption, "but to shoot herself in his presence."

Nor have they pity for Manning: "He was crazy to scuffle with a woman with a gun! What did he expect?" And they joined in praise of the young girl, "a saint as a child," "delicate as a flower," whose intellect was their inspiration.

ONE DEAD, THREE ARE SHOT IN TWO LABOR CLASHES

General Gun Fight in Boyle Hall.

were called into the little anteroom where the board was sitting while the others milled about the lobby. Suddenly the door to the anteroom opened, a man stepped out, drew an automatic and opened fire upon some member of the board. Bullets flew back and forth through the open door. Three or four men were firing simultaneously. Witnesses declared they could not identify any of them.

There was a general rush for the exits. Dever sank to the floor of the lobby with four bullet wounds. P. J. Coyne, 401 Bradley place, and George A. Duffy, 6632 Lafayette parkway, dragged him to his feet and walked him a mile and a half to the Washington Boulevard hospital. There physicians say he will die.

His Sons with Him.
Dierdorf had been summoned to appear before the board on a charge of having worked on Sundays at the plant of the Sandberg Electric company, 3704 North Halsted street. He was accompanied to the meeting by his two sons, Clarence E. Dierdorf, foreman in the factory, and Calvin W. Dierdorf, superintendent of the plant, together with the owner, William J. Gostomski, who was to defend the aged worker against the charges.

Dierdorf was waiting in the lobby, he said, when a "heavy set man in a dark suit" suddenly stepped from the room in which the board was meeting and began firing. A bullet from a .25-caliber automatic struck him in the upper lip. He spat the steel bullet and three teeth out on the floor. His sons and Gostomski, thinking he had been seriously wounded, carried him to the latter's automobile and rushed him to the Jefferson Park hospital.

It was a few minutes later that Ralph Schreyer, 18 years old, 1808 South Trumbull avenue, a carrier of copy for a news agency, was passing the scene on a street car when he noticed a crowd gathered around a form on the sidewalk. According to Schreyer, the man appeared to be still alive and no one was doing anything to aid him.

Calls Passing Auto.
Schreyer called a passing automobile, in which were Harry Peiser, 4223 Kenwood avenue, and Jay Stahlin, 5432 Jeffrey avenue, both members of local 134, and assisted them in taking the wounded man to the Troquais hospital. He was dead when that institution was reached, and Dr. Ralph Cobb expressed the belief the man had been killed instantly.

It was not until some time later the police learned that Dr. Wilhelm Krieger, 1542 West Madison street, had treated a man for gunshot wounds in the arm. A .25-caliber bullet, the doctor said, had ricocheted along the arm, inflicting three wounds.

The man had given his name as George Underwood.

Deputies were sent out to bring in every member of the executive board of local 134, including Boyle, who is known to have been at the meeting, as well as all the officials of Ice Cream Wagon Drivers' local 717.

Besides Boyle, the members of the committee are Charles M. Paulson, Daniel P. Cleary, John H. Murphy, J. A. Dillard, Matt Budau, and Walter Scheffer.

According to witnesses, Budau was the last man seen to enter the committee room before the shooting started.

Coyne and Duffy, who took Dever to the hospital, were held at the Des-plains street station, as also were William Ellis, 1444 Washington boulevard; William Wisner, 11749 Lowe avenue; Edward Fyfe, 1877 South Central Park avenue, and Robert Kulp, 2904 Flournoy street. Later they were removed to the detective bureau, together with Dierdorf's sons, for questioning. According to Coyne, Dever came here about two weeks ago from Kansas City and had accompanied him to the union hall to obtain a working card in Chicago.

Peiser and Stahlin declared they merely had stopped at the hall to pay their dues and had driven around the block preparatory to proceeding east on Washington boulevard when young Schreyer stopped them and they placed Bill's body into the car.

They neither saw or heard the shooting, they declared. "They understood, they said, that Bill had been shot elsewhere and had been thrown on the sidewalk from a passing automobile.

BOYLE'S MEN STRIKE
Electricians employed in the construction of the Illinois Merchants Bank building struck yesterday on order of Michael J. Boyle, business agent of the Electrical Workers' union No. 134.

While the electricians' walkout affects only 135 men, it is considered a test between the union and the Western Union Telegraph company, which for years has used its own electricians in the installation of call boxes, tickers and other electrical apparatuses. Boyle informed the telegraph company it would have to employ members of local No. 134 on the work in the new bank building. This demand was rejected and Boyle called out the union electricians. After the walkout the electricians' business agent intimated the strike would spread to other trades employed on the job.

Henry J. Lutter, president of the Chicago Brick exchange, asserted yesterday he believed the peak of the common brick shortage has been reached. The shortage, which has existed for several weeks, has crippled numerous new construction work and forced nearly a third of the city's building tradesmen out of work.

During the building boom approximately 5,000,000 common bricks are supplied daily for construction. Since the advent of the shortage the number has been cut in half. Bricklayers were particularly hard hit by the brick shortage.

Fullman company officials reported that more than 100 of the 200 striking riveters have returned to work. The strikers, who were unorganized, walked off the job ten days ago when a wage readjustment was announced.

Escapes from Icebox Car
Joseph Butieres, 21, who has no home, after spending three days and nights without food or water in a locked refrigerator car on the New York Central line, was freed yesterday and then arrested at once on the charge of trespassing on railroad property. He was locked up at the Englewood police station.

My BOOKHOUSE

The Quick-Running Squash!

Charles offered a glass of water to the quaintly-dressed stranger. For this courtesy he was given a magic seed from India. Charles planted it and then began a wonderful, humorous adventure. It ended in a race between a horse and the squash.

Alicia Aspinwall's story of The Quick-Running Squash is a classic of delicious humor. Your children will howl with glee over it. It will develop their sense of humor. Chauncey M. Dewey, on his ninetieth birthday, declared that his prolonged life was due to his ability to enjoy humor. How necessary this sense of humor is in school, in play, and later on, in business and social life.

My BOOKHOUSE is full of stories which will go far in cultivating humor, imagination, thoughtfulness, courage, courtesy, kindness, and all the desirable qualities that go to make up real manhood and womanhood. In the sixth or key volume the editor, Olive Beaupré Miller, has arranged an index which enables one to find quickly stories that illustrate these traits. A total of 2,560 pages, containing 537 selections, with more than 1,500 illustrations, most of them in color. As remarkable for what it omits as for what it includes.

INQUIRY SHOWS TAX FUND WASTE, 'INTEREST' CAUSE

And It Comes Out of the Property Owners.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Suggestions were in order yesterday as the subject of taxes. Many there were who could point out defects in the tax collecting and distribution system. But to correct the defects? That was another thing!

Interest was the culprit blamed by all, and concerning one suggestion, a few facts are a necessary prelude, the paramount being:

Cook county taxpayers paid approximately $10,000,000 in interest last year. Of this sum approximately $3,000,000 came from the pocketbooks of Chicago property owners.

An estimated one-third, or $1,000,000, is paid in Chicago on tax anticipation warrants, the balance being interest on outstanding bonds.

Public Is Complacent.
The public, as a rule, approves every bond issue voted upon, so it must be presumed the people want the improvements for which the bonds are issued, thus passing part of the cost on to the next generation.

Tax anticipation warrants are held to be a necessity by most taxing bodies, and the only complaints have been on the basis of payments for them at 5 per cent while there is public money on deposit in banks drawing 3 per cent.

Edward E. Gore, former president of the Association of Commerce, recently quoted a prominent banker as saying: "It is true that we get deposits of public money for which we pay 3 per cent and loan out some of this same money to other public bodies at 5 per cent. As a banker, I have no complaint; as a public spirited citizen, I must say that this is a waste of tax funds."

Costly to School Board.
Dr. John Dill Robertson, a school trustee, recently stated publicly that the practice cost the board of education $450,000 per year.

Ed. Charles Eaton, at the time the city council refused to approve the school budget, declared the school board should be prevented from borrowing $10,000,000 at 5 or 6 per cent in anticipation of its taxes.

The basis of the objections of Mr. Gore, Trustee Robertson, and Ald. Eaton was on the supposition that County Treasurer Patrick J. Carr was dilatory in paying over the taxes. A canvass of the school board, city, county, and sanitary district officials disproved that supposition, all officials saying that there was no delay, at least last year.

Summary of Losses.
A summary was obtained of the interest costs of the four leading branches of local government for last year, which follows:

Board of Education, interest on tax anticipation warrants approximately $1,800,000.

Sanitary District, interest on bonds, approximately $1,500,000.

Cook County, interest on tax anticipation warrants, $450,000; interest on bonds, $470,000.

City of Chicago, interest on tax anticipation warrants, $1,970,000; interest on bonds, $3,000,000.

When the interest costs of the various park districts, school districts, city, town, and village governments on tax anticipation as well as on bonds, and the interest paid by Cook county on the state's outstanding $100,000,000 of bonds, is included with the above, it is believed that the $10,000,000 figure is conservative for Cook county's interest cost.

City Borrows Own Funds.
The City of Chicago, however, pays only 3 per cent on its tax anticipation warrants, as it borrows from its own funds. Last Saturday, the city's cash bank balance was $28,021,436, which is drawing 3 per cent interest. The interest receipts for 1923 by the city were $2,062,386, which shows that the $4,000,000 paid out is not total loss.

In order for Treasurer Carr to earn $1,000,000 in interest, which he did last year, it would have been necessary for him to have had an average deposit of $31,000,000 for the entire year at 3 per cent interest. When Mr. Carr was sworn in as treasurer for this term on Dec. 4, 1923, there was $23,000,000 on deposit in various banks in his name.

Because of the above facts, this suggestion was made yesterday:

Find a legal way for the school board to borrow its tax money from the city's average $30,000,000 deposits at 3 per cent instead of from banks at 5 per cent; find a legal way for the county to borrow its needed eight or ten million dollars yearly from Treasurer Carr at 3 per cent, the same rate the banks pay the county, through Mr. Carr, for the use of the same money.

Included in the above idea was the thought that perhaps the Sanitary District and some of the other taxing bodies could be accommodated by the city or county at 3 per cent, thereby saving the taxpayers a not inconsiderable sum.

Objections to Plan.
The objections to this were readily discernible and openly stated by officials. The many legal safeguards placed about certain funds is the principal difficulty, it was said. For instance, the school board may not borrow from its building fund, of which there is now more than $2,000,000 on hand, for educational purposes. Neither may the Sanitary district use any of its bond fund for corporate purposes, or vice versa. The city found a way to borrow from its traction fund, it was pointed out, but still may not borrow from other funds.

One particular item of the city's cash on hand, was held up as an example of money that might be used temporarily by the schools at a saving. That is a bond account containing approximately $5,000,000 drawing 3 per cent, though the bonds which this represents sold at 4 per cent and up. The selling of them before needed for construction work provided the city with cash and a resultant slight interest loss, that if the law permitted its loan, would be offset by the saving of many thousands of dollars for the board of education.

Mile. Amasar is said to be in Europe. Baklanoff gave his address as the Auditorium hotel, but it was said he has not been registered there for several weeks.

NAME CITIZENS' BODY TO PROBE SOCIAL BUREAU
Anton J. Cermak, president of the county board, yesterday named four members of a citizens' committee to investigate charges of "whisky parties and love affairs" in the county building offices of the social service bureau.

On the committee are Miss Mary McDowell, city commissioner of public welfare; Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton of Hull house; Mrs. Frank Nibbe, president of the Edgewater Catholic Women's club, and Mrs. John McMahon, a prominent Catholic welfare worker. The four women will choose a fifth associate.

"The county's staff of investigators will be placed completely at the committee's disposal," Mr. Cermak said. "I hope they will dig to the bottom of the charges to ascertain their veracity and origin. If there are any guilty they will be brought before the civil service trial board."

U. S. CITIZENSHIP ATTRACTION LOST FOR BAKLANOFF

Russ Opera Star Stops Proceedings.

George Baklanoff of the Chicago Civic Opera company, noted baritone, yesterday was given permission by Federal Judge Carpenter to withdraw his application for American citizenship.

On Dec. 4, 1923, Baklanoff asked for his final naturalization papers, and officials indicated the request would be granted immediately. Tito Schipa and Giulio Crimi, also Chicago opera stars, announced they planned similar requests.

Delay in granting Baklanoff's request never was publicly commented upon, and the cause of his desire to withdraw the application which he submitted May 2, 1921, was not explained in the court proceedings yesterday.

Old Troubles Settled.
Difficulties which the baritone had with deportation authorities in 1920, after Mile. Elvira Amasar, beautiful Russian soprano, had charged that Baklanoff had brought her to this country for immoral purposes in 1915, were reported to have been adjusted months ago.

MAINTAIN OUR RIGHTS UNDER THE WASHINGTON TREATY.

Mr. Henning reports that the navy department has definitely abandoned its plans for gun elevation of our capital ships because of the attitude of the present British government.

It appears also that the British contention is that we cannot continue our program of converting old battleships into gunnery targets.

That our government should accept either interpretation of the Washington treaty is, to this Tribune, virtually incredible. At any rate, we think there is immediate demand for an official clarification of the situation. If so grave an issue as the range question represents is being determined against us, the nation has a right to know why.

The range issue is nothing to compromise or quibble about. It is vital to our naval efficiency. It is not a mere detail or side issue. It is of the essence of the limitation treaty.

The civilian needs no special knowledge to realize its importance. Let him ask himself what chance he would have in a fight with a man who had a longer reach and could hit him sooner and harder than he could hit his adversary.

That is the gun range issue.

Expressed in the facts of the naval situation, it is, according to authoritative information, roughly as follows: The British have two capital ships ranging over 35,000 yards. We have none. If the range could be closed to 30,000 yards, five of our ships would become effective against the British two—provided that the fire of the latter concentrated on one or more of our five at the longer range had not reduced their number. If the range is closed to 24,000 yards twenty British capital ships come into effective action, thus making the ratio twenty-two British against five American. Not until the range is closed to 21,000 yards would our fleet reach a strength of eighteen ships.

Now battle range involves not only the maximum distance projectiles can be delivered, but also the speed of the ship, which, it is plain, has much to do with the range at which the battle will actually be fought. If a fleet has an advantage in hitting power at a certain range, and also advantage of speed, obviously it will be able to keep at a distance at which it can hit and not be hit back. Speed, in short, is a factor of range, and this factor also is emphatically in favor of the British fleet.

Hitting efficiency involves other factors, such as accuracy of aim, tactical skill, deck protection from high angle (long distance) fire, and largely accidental factors such as visibility, unpredictable accident, etc. But we have no right to assume that any or all would be in our favor. We should start with two main facts against us, a disadvantage which would in all probability determine the outcome against us, especially in a contest with the world's greatest naval power.

What becomes of the 5-5-3 ratio in view of these facts?

That is the issue now raised by the British objections to the elevation of main battery guns in our battle fleet. Let us examine the naval building treaty. To begin with, the formula 5-5-3 is not to be found in the treaty. That we may concede, the ratio is established mainly on a basis of tonnage: 58,640 tons for the British Empire, 50,650 tons for the United States, 301,320 tons for Japan, 211,170 tons for France, 183,800 tons for Italy. Replacement tonnage follows approximately the same ratio.

But, of course, there was and could be no pretense that the single factor of tonnage controlled the question of relative strength, which was the foundation factor of the whole arrangement. In the discussion by the delegates in conference and in the press of all the countries involved, the 5-5-3 formula was constantly used as expressing the general rule of limitation of capital ship strength.

In other words, the principle of parity with Great Britain in actual strength of capital ships is fundamental and the treaty must be interpreted as a whole in accordance with that principle, unless there are clear and explicit conditions in the treaty which forbid such a construction in special cases.

The only reference to alterations in armament, bearing upon this range controversy, is in paragraph d, section 1, part 2, chapter 1 of the treaty, dealing with replacement. This contains the following: "No alterations in side armor, in caliber, number or general type of mounting of main armament shall be permitted, except . . ."

The elevation of our main battery guns involves no alteration in "the general type of mounting." All that is necessary is to cut the gun port higher and make some corresponding changes in the turret to permit a longer swing of the gun barrel. The mounting remains the same in type and mechanism.

In short, the object, spirit and terms of the Washington treaty justify the proposed program of modernization. When that program is completed we shall still be far short of the actual parity with British main battle strength, although the principle of parity was undoubtedly assumed by congress and the nation in foregoing our building program and accepting the result of the Washington conference.

We shall not take space here to discuss the conversion to all bidders, except to assert that it involves the same principle. What we wish to say most emphatically is that the objection of the British government to gun elevation is a striking evidence of unwillingness to accept the 5-5-3 ratio as an actual test, and discloses that the present Labor government of Great Britain, whatever its talk of international peace and disarmament, proposes to protect British naval strength at least at its present height.

We ask, therefore, from our government as resolute an insistence upon our rights under the treaty, and we ask also that if the British government persists in an interpretation of those rights which is inconsistent with our understanding and intention in signing the ratio treaty, that treaty shall be denounced.

We are not convinced that Mr. Shearer's estimate of our naval strength is correct, but we have no doubt that our strength is lower, relatively both to Great Britain and Japan, than is commonly realized in congress or the country. And we believe that a policy of concession contrary to the spirit and intent of the treaty has no justification and will prove in due time a grave mischievous.

GREECE OFFERS TO LOAN HERMES.

Greece offers to lend Hermes carrying the infant Dionysus, a marble statue by Praxiteles, a masterpiece, though not the most famous one, to the United States. The United States should accept with fervor. It is a kind thought, and we have not won many since the war.

The history of nations is first to be poor and hard working, then to get rich, then to get artistic, then to become a famous relic.

We have to go the whole gamut like every one else. We have already commenced the artistic phase. Let's take it all, full measure, pressed down and running over, until art discloses the ocean out as far as the twelve mile limit.

Hermes should make the grand tour in America, not stop his whole stay in New York or Washington. A committee of arrangements and reception, bands, flags, flowers, and orators to meet him in every town. The infant Dionysus in Hermes' arms may be valued during the American tour.

IT'S ALL RIGHT. IT'S FORD.

Newton Baker, secretary of war under Wilson, James Garfield, secretary of the interior under Roosevelt, and Mr. Weeks, secretary of war under Harding and Coolidge, denounce the lease of Muscle Shoals to Henry Ford on the terms which he refuses either to change or discuss. They say it is outrageous.

If any other man in the country said that one of the great resources of the land, on which the government has spent millions of dollars, should be given to him, his son's children, and their children or to any one else to whom he cares to give it for a hundred years and if the house of representatives had so given it there would be a roar which would shake the land.

Just the magic of Ford's name does it. If he said he wanted to take over the mint for a hundred years the people would agree to it. Mr. Ford means loving flowers, knowing the birds, wearing a white carnation on Mothers' day, setting the boys out of the trenches, putting up a pile of ham sandwiches for a trip to the bosky dell, watering the syringa bush and getting the neck shaved. If he wants our roll he can have it.

The Other Side

OVERLOADED.
[Wisconsin State Journal.]
We heard of a farmer the other day who shipped a calf to market, and in return for his animal got a bill for the excess cost of transportation and marketing over what the calf brought when sold. It cost that farmer, if the tale be true, not only his time and feed and investment to bring the calf to the market, but an actual cash addition out of his pocket. And he got nothing at all.

One wonders, when such stories come to light, whether the boasted efficiency of our famous meat packing industry—"it uses everything but the squeal"—has not perhaps overreached itself. It is true that the centralization of the packing industry has made the meat supply sturdier and more available, that it has improved manufacturing methods, and that it has prevented waste, and probably that it has expanded the farmer's market. But there can be no question that it has also added to meat costs a very large burden of transportation expense. Is not some, at least, of this a needless burden on the consumer and producer alike?

Grant that a local packing plant, supplying only the needs of its own community and drawing its supply only from the farms of that community, could not be operated so cheaply, nor with such thorough elimination of waste as the huge plant in Chicago. Nevertheless it would have in its favor elimination of the very considerable item of freight charges into Chicago of the stock on the hoof, and of shipping the finished product back to the consumer. The farmer who can take his calf to a nearby town in his wagon and sell it gets at least something out of it, if there is any market at all. The price may be less than the Chicago price—but he puts the transportation charge in his pocket.

Centralization undoubtedly promotes efficiency to a certain point. But there is such a thing as too much of it.

WHY INSULT JAPAN?

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.]
The clause in the Johnson Immigration bill that provides for the total exclusion of Japanese from the United States puts a grave affront upon the Japanese people and nation, violates the friendly relations existing between Japan and the United States and seriously calls in question American good faith and national honor.

Japan has no idea of interfering with the regulation of our immigration problem. The Tokyo government has no desire to send its nationals to countries where they are not wanted. With Japan it is a question not of expediency but of principle. But the clause at issue in effect singles out the Japanese as a people undesirable in the eyes of Americans. It is in fact a declaration of war against the Japanese people.

The elements of the American population which are pressing for Japanese exclusion are probably incapable of appreciating the international aspects of what they are doing. They have no care for national good faith and honor. The congressmen who favor them have no sense of responsibility to the executive department of our government that must represent the United States in its relations with the rest of the world. Their own petty interests are paramount with them.

GETTING READY FOR VACATION.

IN June, 1911, the American Medical Association was about to meet in Los Angeles. A train load of physicians en route to the meeting stopped over for the day at the Grand Cañon. They arrived about 7 in the morning. By 8 a large number of them were hiking down the Bright Angel's trail, hoping to reach the river and get back to the hotel by mid-afternoon. Those physicians had been on the train from one to three days, eating full meals. The only exercise they had was walking to and from the diner and pulling on cigars. At home they were busy men; getting to and from the office was almost their only daily exercise. This trip to California was to be an out-and-about so the walk of 5,000 feet down to the Colorado river, followed by another 5,000 climb to the top. A great many gave up the management was busy until night hauling them out by the mule route.

The wrong way to start a vacation. The history of nations is first to be poor and hard working, then to get rich, then to get artistic, then to become a famous relic.

We have to go the whole gamut like every one else. We have already commenced the artistic phase. Let's take it all, full measure, pressed down and running over, until art discloses the ocean out as far as the twelve mile limit.

60 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 29, 1864.
ST. LOUIS.—Advices from Col. Phillips, commanding Fort Gibson in the Indian territory, are that Quantrill is going into Kansas, having captured the Verdigris and Arkansas rivers.

NEW YORK.—The Times special from the Army of the Potomac says that the rebel deserters report that Lee has received reinforcements. The Tribune's correspondent says no collision with the enemy is likely to occur for many days.

NEW YORK.—News from Fort Monroe indicates hostilities on the southern coast almost immediately. A whole fleet of wooden and armored steamers has just left the harbor. The Onondaga has been ordered from Fort Monroe with its convoys.

ALBANY, N. Y.—Erasmus Corning resigned as president of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad. He was elected to succeed him. R. M. Blatchford was elected vice president.

CHICAGO.—As predicted by this Tribune the Copperheads are drifting all Union men from the police force. The next batch of detectives will be culled from the vestige of the city.

CHICAGO.—The 23rd Illinois Infantry, better known as the First Irish, or Mulligan's brigade, came home under command of the gallant Col. James A. Mulligan. The regiment has seen hard fighting in the Army of the Potomac.

CHICAGO.—Joseph Meeker of Chicago was married to Miss Elizabeth Boorum of Buffalo, N. Y., in that city.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 29, 1899.
MANILA.—Agunbalid, through his field commander, Gen. Luna, has sued for peace. He asked for a cessation of hostilities until the Filipino congress could be assembled to decide whether the people want peace. Gen. Otis replied he had no power to recognize the Filipino congress, and another conference is scheduled for today.

NEW YORK.—Four and one-half hours after Henry T. Sloane obtained a divorce from Mrs. Jessie A. Sloane she married Perry Belmont and they started south for a honeymoon at the Belmont estate farm at Lexington, Ky.

NEW YORK.—The transport Concord unloaded 356 bodies of soldiers and sailors who died or were killed near Santiago and in Porto Rico.

ELKHART, Ind.—Four companies of the National Guard and the G. A. R. formed the escort at the funeral of ex-Gov. Richard J. Oglesby. It was estimated 4,000 persons attended the services.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE LOST SONG.

Oh, my love is true, and my love is fair;
(All rivers run to the sea.)
And the day is bright, and the day is rare,
And a little bird sits on an apple bough there,
And he's singing a song for me—
Heigh-Ho!
His song is all for me.

Oh, my love is a jade, and she's gone far away;
(All rivers run to the sea.)
And the day is dark, and the day is gray,
And the bird still sings, and I watch him stray,
But his song is not for me—
Ah! No!
I've no more song—poor me.

POOR PIERROT.

PERSONAL.—To Bill, the one who got the shell splinters in his eyes: The Forty and Eight have bought a box at the big show the gods are giving at the Auditorium next Friday and Saturday to help the work of the Women's Overseas league. They want to give the box to you, Bill, and they want you to come and bring your friends. Tell your Bowell, who signs himself Merely Harold, to get in touch with one R. H. L. They do hope you'll accept, Bill.

THEY DO SOUND ALIKE.

R. H. L.: Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, we see, writes: "No more important matter lies before the American people than the extension of home ownership. The man who owns his home will develop and defend it. No man ever worked or fought for a boarding house." That answers it—must be these "cursed Evanston boarding houses."
P. S.: Maybe, after all, it was some snappers and not hisses that shocked Capt. Gorby.

THE PERFECT TRIBUTE.

Rhl: The Rupert Brooke paragraph in the Line was charming. Do you remember the inscription on his memorial tablet at Cambridge:
On an isle in the Aegean, under the olives by the sounding sea, lies buried a young Englishman, a poet, a soldier, dead on his way to Gallipoli.

ALL IS NOT MUD THAT SPLATTERS.

R. H. L.: Help! Help! please a poor ill' steno who has only one hour for lunch in which she hastily consumes a toasted sandwich and malted milk and then joins in the aimless walk on Blvd. Mich. with thousands of other clerks, stenographers, and then—at 1 o'clock has to turn in to a call skycraper—a four-walled prison, off a court, too sun-shine—and lose her individuality on a typewriter writing condensed business letters. Oh, Oh—I want the freedom of out-of-doors, mud on my shoes, "n" everything.

MOLLY OF P. G. B.

DOC HARVEY sends us this clipping from Docevaux regarding horseback riding: "Here goes a rider jolting up and down. He will lose some fat from his momentum." Neither do we.

ALAS! OUR HELEN IS ANNIHILATED.

To Helen Henna: Verily, we live in an age of wonders, and we are far from being unique in that respect. All ages have been ages of wonder to those with eyes to see. To be frank, I have never heard of Algonquin Fluke, and though it may not be galled, I do not believe any such person ever existed. As for Darwin, I probably know as much, if not more about him, my dear Helen, as you do, and in dubbing me tadpole, beware lest, by some miracle may not be converted overnight into a lion and then it may be you who will be the eight other lives you so generously credit me with, since you are so reckless with this pen.

The Change Is Ordered.

R. H. L.: In view of the fact that every time I drop into a barber shop to get shaved some member of the other sex is getting a shingle I move and we change the name of the shop to BOBBERS Shops.
DICK AX.

HE SAID HE'D WALK A MILE FOR ONE.

R. H. L.: Snowshoe Al has gone up 100 notches in my estimation. I hadn't supposed he thought about girls in such a hand-to-hand, straightforward way. He's a peach. I don't smoke—I don't drink—and I don't even intend to. I have close shingled hair—and I'm not afraid of mud, especially in my life—I might as well get it first, but I wouldn't be a baby, and I would say—
RUTH.
P. S.: But, please, what did the farmer say when he saw the camel?

THE TROUBLE IS DIGESTING IT.

R. H. L.: Doc Bundenhead having demonstrated that milk can be burned, it is up to Doc Evans to pull off a stunt showing that coal can be eaten.
OLD TIMER.

CLOVER, the world's oldest horse—was just 53—died yesterday at his home in Catwispia, Pa. And only two or three days ago we had suggested that England buy nice old Clover for the Prince of Wales to ride. The Line goes to Pennsylvania and Clover read that paragraph. Clover was one who took the Line very seriously. He felt right over and soon died. His last words were "Nigh, nigh; if that bird gets on my back I'll have to use two of my feet to hold him in the saddle and run with the other two. It can't be did! Good-by."

WHILE THE MESQUITE FIRE BURNS.

R. H. L.: Ah, my Arizona! And the Arizona night! Down Nogales way, incredible stars you can light your cigarette from if you stretch a bit, moonlight and dove shadow and tequila. Up Walpi way, starlight on the mesa top, cedar bough, soft voiced Hopi night chants. Arizona, I love you.
CACTUS KATE.

OH, FLUENTLY.

R. H. L.: The W. G. N. headlines JAPAN BEGINS TRADE WAR. Are the Northwestern 23 allowed to enlist?
AAA.

I Hate Spring!

I hate Spring! I hate the cold, drab days in the early season when rain comes down unseasonably and night winds wriggle all over the wet pavements, when the fog lies thickly over the city and wraps its wet, clinging fingers around you; when the chill winds blow, making the dampness penetrate into your very bones. Oh, I hate it all! And later on when the sun comes and brings with it warm, caressing breezes and blue skies, why, I still hate it. The trees and lawns are a dirty, ugly brown, and the houses look old and dilapidated, as though weary of the long winter season with its driving storms.

And best of all in the Spring you get that restless feeling, that—indeed, something—that makes you long to leave the dust and dirt of the city and get out into the open where it is fresh and where Spring really means something—even if you do get mud on your shoes walking back. Oh, why can't Winter go into Summer without a Spring?
EDITH, THE FINEST.

On Some of Len's Roads She'd Need an Alpenstock.

R. H. L.: Yesterday I saw her! She came out of her domicile carrying a walking stick and stepped into a Ford car. Ah, she didn't need that on her little shoes to assure me. She had that walking stick.
MERRY MA.

"CHARGE, DOTS, charge!" shouted the general, waving his sword as he galloped along the cattle line in America's next war. "Your grateful country will insure the lives of all who survive."

Evansville, Ind., April 24.—My old maid sister-in-law laid to me last night that I had never married; so in the spirit of fairness I hope you will publish this letter. In the criticisms of Mr. Come Hamilton's play "Guess Again" your critic says that the play would have fared better with more direct drama; and better toward the Gumpus. For me, I am most unfair to criticize a play from the interior of a box office, which is where your critic spent most of the evening. He does not criticize the acting of one single performer—it was out of the question from where he sat—so why alarm my direction, which is my living? One cannot get as idea of what "directed" is from the reading of a play. Your critic read the play nearly two weeks ago and criticized from that. I would also point out the fact that a Rembrandt picture was never used in Chicago, as I could not get one—your critic did not know this, however, and lines were not altered in the manuscript.
JOHN HARWOOD.

OUR CRITIC GETS HIS.

En Route to New York, April 24.—It would be most unfair for me to say that The Tribune was a bad newspaper. I imagine it is the Gumpus. For me, I am most unfair to criticize a play from the interior of a box office, which is where your critic spent most of the evening. He does not criticize the acting of one single performer—it was out of the question from where he sat—so why alarm my direction, which is my living? One cannot get as idea of what "directed" is from the reading of a play. Your critic read the play nearly two weeks ago and criticized from that. I would also point out the fact that a Rembrandt picture was never used in Chicago, as I could not get one—your critic did not know this, however, and lines were not altered in the manuscript.

FOR SWEETENERS GUMS.

Chicago, April 24.—The members of the Woman's Allied Drug Club would like it possible to change Mr. Sidney Daniel's "Tribune" about Japan. For some time past between Mrs. Hammer's dominating disposition and Babe's domestic interference, life has become very disagreeable in the Gump home, which might have a tendency for bad influence in the homes of the reading public. Why not make them more lovable and agreeable? WOMAN'S ALLIED DRUG CLUB, E. P. J., Corresponding Secretary.

BUT HAVE WE ROOM FOR AN ALIEN STOMACH?

Chicago, April 23.—At least minus one segment, please, from the three given in Mr. Mootcooth's curious in yesterday's Tribune about Japan's exclusion problem, for it does not properly form a vertex. As to Japan's excluding her neighbors, the world knows that Japan has no room for an alien stomach because her own population has not long been getting their full share of existence, owing to her dense population; while here and in elsewhere that acute condition has never been experienced, or in some of these countries rather have fell labor shortages.
KARUO WATANABE.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Letters to this department must be signed with names and addresses of the writers.

WHAT'S WRONG HERE?

Chicago, April 25.—(To the Legal Friends of the Line.)—When I wrote the first I now occupy, the stove was in bad condition; in fact, beyond repair. The landlord wrote on his lease that he would repair the stove or put in a new one, but he did not write "on my lease." I cannot use the stove and complaints to the landlord bring no results. Am I justified in buying a new stove and taking it out of the rent?
O. J. W.

If the landlord's writing was merely in the form of a memorandum, it probably would not be binding upon him. If it was so worded as to be a part of the contract, apparently it would be binding upon him. It would be safer to sue for the cost of the stove than to take it out of your rent.
THE TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

BEYOND REPAIR.

Chicago, April 25.—(Friend of the People.)—What repairing will be done to Harding avenue from Chicago to Ferdinand street this year. It has been in bad condition. We have tried many times to have something done but it only gets worse and remains neglected.
F. V. Ferdinand avenue is absolutely beyond repair. The only remedy for existing condition is a new pavement.
THOMAS W. BYRNE, Superintendent of Streets.

MARRIAGE AND CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, April 24.—(Friend of the People.)—Was there a law passed last year preventing alien women from becoming citizens who they married a United States citizen?
H. R.

You doubtless refer to the Cable law, which went into effect Sept. 22, 1923. It provided that any alien woman marrying a United States citizen on or after that date (Sept. 22, 1923) would not gain United States citizenship by such marriage. It also provided that if women who are United States citizens marry men of alien citizenship on or after that date they will not forfeit their United States citizenship.

Telephone Girl: "Sorry you've been tripped!"

UNABLE TO PIN GRAFT OR WASTE UPON CULLERTON

"Much Hearsay but No Real Facts at Quiz."

Witnesses anxious to fasten responsibility for fire department corruption and blasted morale upon Commissioner John F. Cullerton thronged before the special council investigating committee yesterday.

"They talked their heads off for five hours, and in it all we didn't find a peg on which to hang any of the rumors of waste, graft, and extravagance at Cullerton's door," declared Ald. C. E. Eaton (5th) when the committee had adjourned until next Monday morning.

Some told vague stories of fraudulent hose purchases, of graft in the motorization of the department, and the collection of a $30,000 slush fund to insure promotions. Another dragged in a story of Cullerton's domestic difficulties.

Cullerton Calm at Hearing.

Through it all sat Commissioner Cullerton without an attorney to cross-examine the witnesses. Frederick A. Brown, special assistant attorney general, under whose direction a recent grand jury investigated fire department scandals for months without returning an indictment, was there.

So were John C. McDonnell, Edward Dwyer, and Patrick Egan, first, second, and third assistant fire marshals, respectively. Fire Marshal Edward Buckley was in the background. AM. Arthur Albert (43d) was on hand to prod the investigators or prompt the witnesses.

Charges by Egan.

Assistant Marshal Egan, one time confidant of Cullerton, thrilled the committee for a moment when he charged that "every important position in the fire department is for sale and Cullerton is the salesman." "Now we're getting somewhere," declared Ald. Eaton, the committee's examiner, as his colleagues braced themselves for what promised to be the first concrete evidence of wrongdoing yet presented. "Give us an instance or a name of some one paying for promotion."

"Well, some one else will have to do this," countered Marshal Egan. "Any way, it was common gossip that you wouldn't get promotion unless you paid for it."

Although it also was a matter of "common gossip" throughout the department, Marshal Egan could recall neither the collectors of nor the contributors to the rumored $30,000 fund to insure passage of an ordinance to equalize the salaries of captains and lieutenants. Neither could he tell who was to be given the fund if the ordinance had passed.

"Their Money Returned."

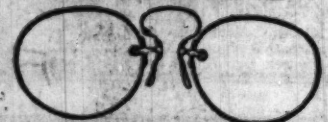

"All I know is that it was collected, and when the ordinance did not pass it was given back to the contributors," declared Egan.

"What we want is proof of solicitation if you have it, not mere gossip," said Ald. Eaton. "Wouldn't it or any other civilian appointed to that place be disliked by the fire fighters or the uniformed rank?" Ald. F. H. Link (48th) asked. "Possibly so," admitted McDonnell.

Robbers Burn Open Bank Safe; Flee with Contents

Beaverville, Ill., April 28.—[By the Associated Press.]—Safe robbers invaded the Beaverville State bank last night, burned their way into the safe and escaped with $2,430 in currency and commercial paper of a face value of $20,000.

A. W. Kaney—Ben "Kaney"—whose voice has been heard by more persons than that of any other living man, unless we take into consideration the "canned" voices of some of the talking machine stars, will take the microphone for the first time tonight at 8:30 p. m. on WGN.

Mr. Kaney's experience in broadcasting has been as long as broadcasting itself, as it is now carried on. For the last eighteen months he has been announcing from KTW on a schedule covering many hours each day.

Tramp Teacher to Speak.

Seth Shepard, America's first "tramp teacher," country life director for Cook county, will be the speaker on the Tramp Teacher and Garden program tonight. His subject will be "Visiting Cook County's Rural Schools."

He will tell about the schoolhouse project—the "learn by doing" system of teaching farm boys and girls—in the county public schools.

A musical program will be given by students of the Boardman School of Music.

Heaven? It's a Place with Nary Static

And Static's What Makes World Go Buz.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

I'd rather have gone to a show, but I had to have town.

The first stop was at WCK. Detroit (crack-crack-crack and a code bird).

Listen to "Island in Heaven to Me." It sure is if there's no static there.

Turned to KSD, St. Louis, for their Grand Central theater program. Lady announcer said we were listening to an operatic program by the Ursula academy.

This is listed for tonight (Tuesday). Somebody cookoo here.

At 9:28 the thump, thump, tum, tum of a harp (evidently)—"WHO, Das Moines, Ia, crack-crack-crack, 'Love's Old Sweet Song.'" This is a fine, full-toned station that I had never heard before.

At 9:46, WCAP, Washington. You have just had the pleasure (sic) of hearing "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," and the next—"The Sweetest Story Ever Told." The racket was so frightful that I began to fear the world was coming to an end.

Announcer came to my rescue, stating the next number will be "Keep on Hoping."

With that threat of hope and amidst a fierce static racket (the riveter's make while putting up the Tribune tower, located "James Russell and Al Bernard, the 'Dixie Stars,' at WMC, Memphis. Their first numbers will be, 'In 1929, Correlation, in 1929, 'Feet a-Boo,' crack-crack-crack, 'See the del del del'—you know how it goes. If I ever go plumb-crazy I want to go like that!

At 10:10 WCRD, Zion, signing off with bell chiming to the tune of "Silver Threads Among the Gold"—WOL, Ames, Ia., signing off at 11:14, and another distant station on the same wave length coming in with a solo. This paragraph isn't crazy. It's a never ending fadaway.

On the way home passed at WTAS, Elgin, to hear a drowsy burr—the audience, a surreptitious code fellow joining in the applause. They were all crazy.

The world isn't coming to an end. Only cookoo!

Wife, Freed by Court, Says Dr. C. McCormick Is Insane

Mrs. Ida W. McCormick, exonerated several weeks ago of having embezzled $9,000 from the McCormick Medical college, 3738 South Michigan avenue, has filed a petition in the County court alleging that her husband, Dr. Charles McCormick, head of the college, was insane. McCormick, who asserted his sanity and waived objection to an examination, probably will be arraigned before County Judge Edmund K. Jarocki next Thursday.

OFFICIAL COUNT OF PRIMARIES
IS COMPLETEDCertification of the Cook
County Returns Made.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

The canvass of Cook county's vote in the April 8 primaries was completed yesterday. Certification of the returns from Chicago, Cicero, Summit and Chicago Heights was made by the election commissioners to County Clerk Switzer who will make the county proclamation today and forward the county figures to the secretary of state at Springfield.

Tabulation of the statewide vote probably will be finished by the secretary of state's office in time for the canvassing board, consisting of the governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and attorney general, to announce the official results some time this week.

Final Senatorial Figures.
Revised and final figures on the Republican senatorial contest show that Gov. Charles S. Deneen carried Cook county by 9,335 votes over United States Senator McMillin McCormick.

Gov. Deneen's official majority over State Senator Estimation in the Republican gubernatorial contest is 2,974.

Cook county contributed a majority of 10,577 to President Coolidge's victory over Senator Hiram Johnson for the Republican presidential vote of Illinois.

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe was reelected by 48,453 votes over George R. Holmes, the Democrat, entry, County Recorder Joseph F. Haas, one of the three Deneen entries who smashed the regular Republican county place, was reelected by 53,748 votes over Circuit Clerk August W. Miller.

For County Offices.

The vote on other offices in the Republican primary follows:
Circuit court clerk—Wallace, 217,707; Miller, 181,584; Wallace's majority, 36,123.

Superior court clerk—Briekson, 290,118; Johnson, 117,822; Briekson's majority, 172,296.

Coroner—Wolf, 226,493; Scherz, 107,794; Wolf's majority, 118,699.

On Democratic Side.
Judge Norman L. Jones, Democratic nominee for governor, carried the county by 48,768 votes over State Representative Lee O'Neill Brown.

The Democratic county vote on governor was: Brown, 5,223; Jones, 48,768.

HANDS OF DEATH

The hands of the clock indicate the number of deaths by autos, guns, and moonshine in Cook county since Jan. 1 last.

48,779; Jones, 97,147; Keller, 12,325; Thomas, 5,771.

Col. A. A. Sprague, regular Democratic candidate for United States senator, carried Cook county by 75,655 votes over William McKinley, former speaker of the Illinois house. The vote was: Sprague, 129,526; McKinley, 44,871.

By leading his nearest running mate on the Republican Municipal court slate by 12,517 votes, Judge Daniel P. Trude, his friends insisted yesterday, is placed in line for elevation to a higher court when nominations are made to fill vacancies, if past customs are followed. Party leaders frequently have followed the suggestion of the bar judges for the Circuit and Superior courts. Judge Trude led the Republican ticket with 209,947 votes. Second place was won by Judge Arnold Heap with 187,820 votes.

TWO ATTACKED BY MANIAC.
A woman and a man were injured yesterday when Marjorie O'Neill, 1778 Ordway, believed to be demented, ordered butler shop of Joseph Templeton, 1791 Ordway, and without any provocation, struck them with a heavy hammer. The assault was taken to the Warren avenue police station and later sent to the psychiatric hospital for examination.

DRIVER OF TRUCK
HELD FOR DEATH
OF LITTLE BOY

Charles Stevens, 1623 Barry avenue, was booked on a charge of manslaughter last night after an 11 year old boy who had run over with his delivery truck died of his injuries.

The accident happened in an alley at the rear of 3407 Lawrence avenue. The boy, Carl Stutz, 4623 Bernard street, suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries.

The death brings the county toll since Jan. 1 up to 163 due to automobile accidents.

Clifton Quinn, 4, son of Dr. Emmett M. Quinn, 1563 Yates avenue, suffered severe injuries when he was struck by an automobile last night while crossing 75th street at Colfax avenue. The driver of the car did not stop. A passing motorist took the boy to a doctor and then was taken home.

WOMEN VOTERS' LEAGUE ADOPTS "WORK" PROGRAM

Dodge Radical Pacifism at Convention.

BY KATE WEBBER.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 28.—(Special.)—The National League of Women Voters kept to the tradition of Washington today at today's sessions; this was the first time they already have traveled toward ultimate freedom from drudgery.

With a few minor changes, the convention adopted the plan of work proposed by the board of directors. Special stress is to be laid on getting out the vote, though other measures include education in government, and practical cooperation to prevent war.

The only debate in considering changes in the program came up when the National League of Women Voters adopted an amendment to the constitution, to the effect that birth control should be included in the recommendations for study.

The arguments upon which the issue was debated dealt with religious objections, disagreements in medical circles as to its wisdom, and the fact that study of sterilization led to practically the same end.

Vote to "Study" War.

The league adopted a program seeking uniform laws concerning women, after voting to kill a proposed amendment to the federal constitution giving congress power to legislate upon the subject of marriage and divorce.

The league's program for international cooperation to prevent war was adopted without change. It recommended study of disarmament, reparations, the league of nations, the Bork and American foreign policy.

The delegates voted unanimously to study the action of the articles of incorporation as recommended by the executive council. Aside from the league's program for international cooperation to prevent war was adopted without change. SHEARER BELITTLES OUR NAVY, CONGRESS COMMITTEEMEN SAY

Washington, D. C., April 28.—(Special.)—Members of the congressional naval committee sharply dissented today from the charges made by William B. Shearer that the American fleet is inadequate as compared with the British and Japanese fleets.

Mr. Shearer claimed that the ratio of 5-5-3 established by the Washington conference for the United States, Great Britain, and Japan, respectively, had been changed to make the United States navy occupy the lowest position; also that the United States navy was far inferior in fuel oil storage facilities, in range of guns, in speed, and in protective armor.

Senator Swanson (Dem., Va.) said: "The American navy needs some cruisers. It is its greatest need. In all other respects it is superior to any other navy."

Senator King (Dem., Utah), said that our navy was as effective as Great Britain's.

Representative French (Rep., Idaho), conceded that in cruisers Great Britain and Japan are far superior to the United States, but contends that the government is at work on a constructive program.

EXCLUSION LAW DELAY PROPOSED TO SOOTHE JAPAN

Conference Sought as Solution.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—President Coolidge is conjuring his conferences with members of congress in an effort to find some way to smooth out the international difficulties presented by the Asiatic exclusion provisions of the immigration bill.

One of the plans under consideration by the President is understood to be a proposal to postpone the effective date of the Japanese exclusion provisions with the intent of working out in diplomatic exchanges some arrangement which would satisfy the majority sentiment in congress and at the same time be acceptable to Japan.

Other Plans Considered. Indications today, however, were that a postponement proposal would have hard sledding in the conference committee which is adjusting differences between the two houses of congress. What other plans are under consideration have not been disclosed, but it is known that alternatives are being examined.

Immigration conferences today at the White House brought Chairman Johnson of the house committee, Chairman Lodge of the senate foreign relations committee, Secretary Hughes, and Senator Reed (Rep., Pa.), head of the senate conference, to the executive office.

Coolidge Urged to Back Bill. In a letter sent to the President, Senator Shortridge (Rep., Cal.) urged approval of the immigration bill as a "great service to our country." He denied that the exclusion provisions were aimed at any nation, and declared the President was in a position to assure Japan the measure was designed solely to protect "the economic, racial, political welfare" of the United States.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't. It doesn't do much good to try to comb or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it; then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary Liquid Arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get Liquid Arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you need, no matter how much dandruff you may have. This simple remedy never fails.

EX-STATESMEN WHOSE 'EX' AIDED CLIENTS NAMED

Weeks Lists Those Who Practiced Quickly.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—(Special.)—William Gibbs McAdoo, two former attorneys general, A. Mitchell Palmer and Thomas W. Gregory, two former Senators James Hamilton Lewis and Hoke Smith, and a number of other congressmen are named in a report submitted to the senate today by Secretary of War Weeks as a partial list of those who have appeared as attorneys advocating claims before his department.

This is in pursuance of the resolution of Senator Norris (Rep., Neb.) to learn what cabinet members and senators were active immediately after leaving office or representing clients on matters pending in any department. It is a violation of law for a former department officer or employee to appear within two years before any department in a matter pending while he was in office, but it is not unlawful for a senator or representative to represent clients in any case at any time after leaving office.

When McAdoo Appeared.

McAdoo, according to Secretary Weeks, through the firm of McAdoo, Cotton & Franklin, appeared May 1, 1920, in the claim of the Locomobile Company of America for a refund of $260,750, growing out of excise tax. The claim was denied and was finally allowed in the court of claims for $5,454.

Palmer, through his law firm, appeared in a number of war contract cases for M. Lowenstein & Sons. Gregory was retained by the Chicago packers in 1920. His firm is Gregory & Todd. They appeared for Morris & Co., in a claim which was denied, and for Swift & Co., in a claim which was denied, and in March, 1924, allowed $1,077,250 by the court of claims. They appeared for Armour & Co. in a claim that was denied, and for Carden & Herd, in a claim for a percentage of gross earnings of freight ships sold to the government. An award of $556,000 was made by the secretary of war on this claim.

Chicago Firm Lewis' Client.

Lewis appeared Aug. 31, 1920, in the claim of Burke & James, Inc., of Chicago in connection with the air service department.

Former Senators Willard Saulsbury and Christie Benet are also in the list and the following ex-house members: Burton E. Sweet, W. E. Jamieson, C. C. Carlin, J. T. Watkins, T. J. Ryan, Charles F. Ogden, Gilbert A. Currie, and James W. Godd.

should return to the treasury the largest price possible to secure.

"While the price is an important element, there is another consideration even more compelling, the agriculture of the nation needs a greater supply, and lower cost of fertilizers. This is now imported in large quantities.

"The best information I can secure indicates that present methods of power production would not be able profitably to meet the price at which these imports can be sold. To obtain a supply from this water power would require long and costly experimentation to perfect a process for cheap production. Otherwise our purpose would fail completely.

"It seems desirable, therefore, in order to protect and promote the public welfare, to have adequate covenants that such experimentation be made and carried on to success. The great advantage of low priced nitrates must be secured for the direct benefit of the farmer and the indirect benefit of the public in time of peace, and of the government in time of war. It is the main object be accomplished the amount of money received for the property is not a primary or major consideration.

Asks for Investigation.

"Such a solution will involve complicated negotiations and there is no authority for that purpose. I, therefore, recommend that the congress appoint a small joint committee to consider offers, conduct negotiations, and report definite recommendations."

I have never departed. I have never said I was trying to deliver Muscle Shoals to Mr. Ford or to any one else. I do not think his favor is for sale. I want to have his proposal fairly considered, just as I wanted any other proposals fairly considered.

"My mind was made up when Mr. Ford called on me on Dec. 3, and at that time, my message was already written, printed and had been sent to the press for five days. My message went out Nov. 23, five days before Mr. Ford came to see me. I expected there would be other bids and wanted all of them considered on their merits.

"This question ought to be decided on its merits. I have no objection of dealing with it. The congress should have none."

Ford's "Social Visit."

Mr. Weeks questioned about the cessation of Ford's attacks immediately after the date of the Miller telegram, said that following Ford's conference with the President in December the manufacturer called on him for "a social visit."

The secretary admitted he was greatly surprised at this show of friendliness, for he wanted to fight Ford for his "libelous" statements.

Mr. Weeks testified that he not only consulted the President about the sale of the Goetz plant, but also about the replies he issued to the press on the attacks made by Ford. This was brought out with the intention of showing that originally there had been no warm feeling between Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Ford, although later there seemed to be.

At one point where Mr. Weeks was asked if he recalled the statement from Mr. Ford supporting Coolidge, he answered:

"Yes, and that's one time where I think Mr. Ford showed some intelligence."

Ernest Liebold, Ford's secretary, to whom the telegram was sent, has been subpoenaed to testify Friday.

Not Hired by Ford, Is Claim.

Detroit, Mich., April 28.—(Special.)—E. G. Liebold, secretary to Henry Ford, denied today that James Martin Miller was an employee of Ford. Miller, he said, occasionally contributed articles to the Dearborn Independent and frequently sent wires to Dearborn.

"But," said Liebold, "if the telegram advising Mr. Ford to cease criticism of Secretary Weeks was ever received, it was regarded as of no importance."

He Did Say It, Miller Says.

New York, April 28.—James Martin Miller, whose telegram to the Dearborn Independent quoting President Coolidge as saying he would try to deliver Muscle Shoals to Henry Ford was repudiated by the President today, asserted tonight his telegram was correct.

"A man cannot afford to have a controversy with the President of the United States," Mr. Miller said, "but I want to say that I quoted the President correctly in my telegram. Perhaps, however, Mr. Coolidge has forgotten, because in the thousands of duties that demand his attention it may be difficult for him to recall one of many conversations."

Mr. Miller repudiated statements made by Ford representatives in Detroit tonight that he not only on the Ford payroll and had never been authorized to represent the motor car manufacturer in any capacity.

He declared he had been engaged in December, 1922, by Ernest G. Liebold as an "observer" of things political relating to the manufacturer's presidential boom. He resigned January 1.

Film—the robber of all tooth beauty. Learn how millions now combat it

That cloudy coat on teeth is film. At first the film is viscous—you can feel it now.

That film is clinging. No ordinary tooth paste effectively combats it. So, in old-way brushing, much of it clings and stays. Food stains, etc., discolor it, then it forms dingy coats. That is why so many teeth are clouded.

Film is unclear

Film is unclear. When it lingers on or between the teeth it threatens constant damage.

Film holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

These film-caused troubles became almost universal. They were constantly increasing. So dental investigators started out to find ways to fight film.

Two methods found

In this research two methods were discovered. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

Able authorities have proved these methods effective, by many careful tests. A new-type tooth paste was created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Leading dentists everywhere began to advise it. The use fast spread the world over. Now careful people of some 50 nations have adopted this modern tooth paste.

Two other needs discovered

Two other essentials were revealed by research. So

Elgin Service in A.D. 1950

A FEW years ago the Elgin Watchmakers College was just an ideal in a human mind.

Today it is a true working college—with full equipment, a faculty recruited from the cream of professional watchmaking talent, a student body of selected and earnest young men.

It is growing so fast that plans are already under way to double the accommodations of its classrooms.

Emphasis is laid on work at the Elgin Watchmakers College—a full day's work every working day.

Three years of keeping at it. Thirty-five and a half hours of bench work each week—besides four hours in the lecture room absorbing the technique of professional watch design; and four and a half hours at the drafting board, preparing the detail drawings for the next piece of work to be achieved at lathe and bench.

Any watch-owner can imagine what it will mean when these Elgin graduates are located in different cities and towns throughout this land.

The Elgin Watchmakers College was founded and is endowed by the Elgin Company. It is just one more step in making the Elgin institution a service to the nation in perpetuity.

Young men interested in taking up the study of the finer mechanics of watchmaking are invited to send for the booklet, "Watchmaking as a Vocation," mailed free on request. Simply address, Elgin Watchmakers College, Elgin, Illinois.

REV. WILLIAMS LAYS BOMB TO BOOTLEG PLOT

While police yesterday sought the identity of two men driving a red touring car who, witnesses said, fled from the vicinity of Montrose and Winchester avenues directly after a dynamite blast had damaged the frame residence of the Rev. Elmer L. Williams, the minister reiterated his charges that the bombing was the result of a booze political plot in reprisal for his anti-bootleg activities.

Mr. Williams named Terry Druggan and Frank Lake, whose names have frequently come into booze traffic investigations, as "typical of the men who are trying to get me."

Recently a conference of booze grantees and big politicians who are setting the graft was held to devise ways and means of bumping me off," Mr. Williams said.

Mr. Williams, law enforcement director of the Better Government association, said that "right now in Chicago seven breweries are running in open defiance of the prohibition laws."

The breweries mentioned by the Rev. Mr. Williams are the Best Brewing company, Stenson Brewing company, Keeley Brewing company, Sieben Brewing company, Illinois Beverage company, owned by Druggan and Lake; Sieben Brewing company, and the Malt and Brew company. He charges that from some of these places "crooked politicians are realizing $7.50 a graft per barrel of beer."

"I'll continue to fight," Mr. Williams said. "We of the Better Government association fight fair, but if those dirty, crooked, yellow politicians are looking for action we'll give it to them. It is these brewery hirelings who have bombed my home."

OHIO PRIMARY TO TELL DAUGHERTY STATUS TODAY

Columbus, O., April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Ohio voters tomorrow will indicate their choice for president in the state primary.

Republicans will decide between Calvin Coolidge and Senator Johnson (of Call). James M. Cox, who was defeated four years ago for president, and William Gibbs McAdoo, of California, former secretary of the treasury, are the Democratic candidates. Chief interest centers in the candidacy of Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, who heads the list of Coolidge candidates for delegates-at-large. Four years ago Mr. Daugherty was turned down by the voters as a Harding delegate at large.

JURY FINDS CITY NOT GUILTY IN EASTLAND CASE

The city's victory in the first of the Eastland damage suits brought against it was hailed yesterday by City Attorney John J. Kelly as "removing a stain against the city in that it was exonerated of the murder of the $12 Eastland victims." A jury in Superior Judge John P. McGorty's court refused to give damages to Mrs. Elizabeth Bambas, 1304 West 65th court, whose daughter, Emilie, was drowned in the disaster. Mr. Kelly predicted the dismissal of $10,000,000 worth of suits.

Does February 12, 1894
mean anything to you?

IT DOES if you were here in Chicago. That was the day of the "big wind."

She blew and she blew and she blew—until folks wondered that every roof in the city wasn't blown off. It was cold to boot and the wind seemed to draw the furnace heat right out of the houses.

The possibility of another blow like that—even if it is combined with below zero weather—doesn't worry the owner of a house heat insulated with BALSAM-WOOL. He knows that no matter what the temperature, the house can be kept warm and cozy—and with mighty little coal, too.

Why

is Gargoyle Mobiloil the best of all oils to put in your Home Garage?

Because it is made by the Vacuum Oil Company, who are the world's foremost specialists in lubrication—and—

Because Mobiloil is produced from crude stocks selected entirely for their lubricating value—not gasoline yield—and—

Because the selection of the correct grade for your car is made easy and sure through the Chart of Recommendations which progressive dealers have on their walls—and—

Because the individual recommendations of the Chart are endorsed by nearly 500 manufacturers of automobiles, motor trucks, farm tractors, and automotive stock engines—and—

Because Mobiloil is recommended in more automobile instruction books than any two other oils—and—

Because Mobiloil is asked for by more motorists than any three other oils combined—and—

Because Mobiloil may be bought in sealed containers especially suitable for your Home Garage. For example, the 5-gallon can, and the 15-, 30-, or 55-gallon steel drum which comes with a convenient, leak-proof faucet.

Put Mobiloil in your Home Garage! Be sure to use the correct grade as shown on the Chart of Recommendations in case you do not already know it.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Difficult Spanish Recipes.
Havana. — [Special Correspondence.] — Spanish-English dictionaries are poor when it comes to cooking terms. This is irritating, for it makes the trying to translate Spanish recipes a more or less maddening business. The title of the recipe is often not to be found. Therefore, it seems to me that Spanish cookery—which I have good reason to believe has its elements of greatness, else why did Spanish kings destroy themselves by overeating and why have they so many cook books—is deeply embedded in the language, so deeply that only a few have ever tried to get it out.

I am beginning to think this is a great pity. No end of Italian, French and German recipes have been put into English, and but a few of the Spanish, and some of these are misleading.

For instance, we think of tortilla as a certain sort of corn cake made in Mexico, but this Spanish word is used for both pancake and omelet, and the Spanish cook books give recipes for many sorts of tortillas, in the omelet sense—plain, with fine herbs, with tomatoes, with saffron, peas, and so on and of other things.

Spanish omelet we have used, and it has been held in high esteem and is really a tortilla. Its recipe, founded on its high palatability, suggests to me that it would be highly profitable to study Spanish tortillas as a whole—no inconsiderable task without a supply of dictionaries all in the Spanish language and perhaps even with them.

In only one way has Spanish cookery reached us, and that is favorably in Creole cookery—half Spanish, the only cook book I have found printed here in Havana calls itself a manual of Creole cookery.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MISS MAE: THERE ARE A NUMBER OF DETAILS BESIDE JUST SCRUBBING THE FACE AND KEEPING IT THOROUGHLY CLEAN IN THE FIGHT ON BLACKHEADS. For instance, few girls think about the necessity of internal cleanliness. By that I mean eating the right kind of foods and drinking sufficient water to keep the intestines flushed and the bowels clear. Then there is the daily bath, as one must keep the pores of the body free of impurities as well as the skin on the face. There are several other items of care to observe. Please send a s. a. e. to me for instructions in which all this information about blackheads and pimples and oily skin is included.

MARY: YOU ARE JUST THE RIGHT WEIGHT. If you wish to remain so, balance your menus fairly. The amount of food required by the individual varies with height, age, and muscular activity. The average person of sedentary occupation requires no more than two thousand calories for the entire day. I shall be glad to send you my booklet on caloric values of food if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

UNHAPPY: X-RAY TREATMENT is used with success in the treatment of goiter. Also thyroid extract is given to counteract the enlarged thyroid gland. But I should most certainly advise the best medical direction in this connection. Do not take the extract without it.

Elizabeth Carpenter and Thomas Marshall Wed at Bride's Home

Miss Elizabeth Carpenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter of 1545 Astor street, became the bride of Thomas L. Marshall, son of Judge and Mrs. John H. Marshall of Charleston, Ill., yesterday afternoon before an assemblage of about 175 relatives and friends. The service was read at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents by the Rev. Dr. Norman Hutton, before a background of old green and gold brocade and Easter lilies in the living room. The bride's gown was of ivory velvet, made simply with a draped skirt, long sleeves, and a court train. Her veil of tulle was fastened to her head with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of white lilies. Her only attendant, Miss Marion Farnsworth, wore a frock of white chiffon trimmed with bands of lavender and fuchsia and made in old fashioned style with a full skirt and a tight bodice. Her old fashioned bouquet was of chrysanthemums, lilies of the valley and fuchsia. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall will be at home after June 1 in Lake Forest.

Only the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom will be present at the wedding of Miss Frances Taft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oren Taft Jr. of 230 East Walton place, and Woodley McAlpine Pollock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Pollock of Lake Forest, on May 30. Mrs. Philip F. W. Peck will be the sister's matron of honor, and Edward L. Pollock Jr. will be the best man. Mr. Pollock and his bride will make their residence in Lake Forest after Oct. 1.

At the annual meeting of the Women's Exchange yesterday morning Mrs. Elmer Richardson Dunham was elected president; Mrs. James Ward Thomas, first vice president; Mrs. John Coleman Jr., second vice president; Mrs. Charles I. Pierce, third vice president; Mrs. Earl H. Reynolds, recording secretary; Mrs. Helen Gurley, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edward E. Cuddey, treasurer, and Mrs. John W. Tailor Thrives on Trade of Married Man, Not Bachelor

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The tailor of the small side street says if it weren't for married men he would go out of business. It is to the married ones, not the bachelors, he owes his living sewing on buttons, patching here and there, and making a pair of trousers to match.

Upon the bachelors he depends for an occasional pressing and cleaning job. The single men do not have their coats turned or their trousers mended. When the suits they are wearing are getting shabby they buy new ones and throw away the old.

As for sewing on buttons, the tailor says: "We are out of luck. They don't have to come to us. Not while there are a half dozen girls or so just waiting the opportunity to show how accomplished they are in these little domesticities. Will they keep it up later?—Ho, ho! They will not, thank heavens! Those husbands will be among our best customers. If the average married man wants a button sewed on it is the tailor he has to appeal to."

Every little domestic cloud has its silver lining, therefore! So should the tailor sing.

We read something beside the button sewing into the case. To begin with, sewing buttons on men's clothes is a job that calls for a tailor's skill. Few wives have the knack of the strong, loose threads even though their fingers be willing. Few husbands are appreciative of the effort required if one lacks the skill.

From one authority in our block we have the story of the married patronage as due to woman's pride in keeping him looking neat and well pressed.

"If they didn't have some woman to look after them they'd never get their clothes pressed at all," he says. "There's one little woman who comes here regularly. She has been wearing a tailored suit for six months. I asked her one day why she didn't let me freshen it up for her. She just laughed and said she'd have to do it herself, for they couldn't afford to have hers and his done, too, and added she'd have to keep him looking right for business reasons."

"Outside of the young Valentines, the bachelor's clothes are not kept up like the man with some woman to see they are sent to be cleaned and mended."

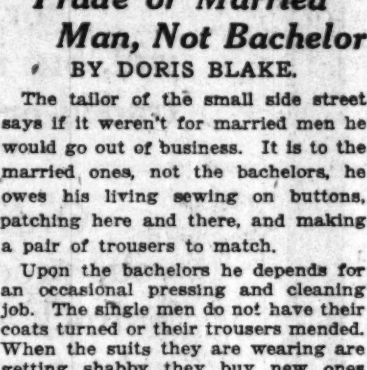

"Ask any laundry man and he will tell you the same thing. The bachelors don't have half the number of shirts and collars in the wash. They have no one to lay out a fresh one for them and so they put the used one back on again. Same way with their socks. They'd never change them if the wife didn't hide the soiled ones in the laundry bag and set out the fresh pair."

"No, you can't tell me," he says, "that neglect at home is the reason we tailors live and thrive. It's just the opposite. If a man took half as much pride in his wife's appearance he wouldn't be kicking about the price she pays for her hair, take it from me."

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

What Would He Think?
"Dear Miss Blake: I am in love with a young man whom I only know by sight. Every morning I meet this young man in the train. All he does is stare. Now, Miss Blake, I would like to become acquainted with him, and therefore ask you if it is my place to speak to him first, or is it his?"

How could you say you are in love with a young man you have never spoken to, know nothing about, who might be married, might be anything but a gentleman? Granted he might be everything that is nice and eligible, what do you suppose he would think of your speaking to an utter stranger? You want to remember, Blossom, men, that is, nice men, are sticklers for the conventions in so far as their desirable girl friends are concerned. Besides, it is not in the etiquette book for girls to address men without a formal introduction. On the contrary, it is considered quite vulgar form.

Takes Her to Dances.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl 17. I go with a boy 18. I like this boy. When he takes me to dances he leaves me and goes and dances with other girls. Advise me what to do. Y. P."

The boy should dance the first dance with you and then see that you are introduced so you may have other dances taken. He should not leave you to look out for yourself entirely. Neither should you expect him to dance more than a couple of dances with you.

MEN'S FASHIONS

BY A. T. GALICCO.
Red Lined Gloves.
NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—Realizing the desire in man for the ornate, it is our desire always to be the first to report something new in colors, some new application or adaptation which will enable a peaceful citizen to fare forth in crimson or scarlet and return home unscathed.
In this case we are passing this information along second hand. The gloves sketched we discovered between the covering of a magazine devoted to the things that men wear.
They are of buckskin, a pleasant, soft, pliable material, in the natural buckskin color, and are lined with red silk. Why this is we do not know. We do know, however, that the lining rather keeps it from being anything approaching a dress glove. It is more an affair for a stroll down some quiet lane or avenue that needs cheering up. Doubtless the wearer pauses every block or two, peeks under the flap of his glove, is refreshed by the glowing scarlet marches on, feeling better and happier.

Issue subject to approval by the Public Service Commission of the State of New York

For information regarding the Company and its Preferred Stock, we refer to a letter from Mr. Fred D. Corey, President, which he has briefly summarized as follows:

BUSINESS: The Company is organized under the laws of the State of New York, and is engaged in the production and distribution of electric power, principally hydro-electric, in Western and Central New York. It serves a highly developed industrial territory extending from the Niagara River to and beyond the city of Syracuse, including the cities of Lockport, Batavia, Rochester, Geneva, Auburn, Syracuse, Oswego, Lackawanna, Dunkirk, Jamestown, Olean, N. Y., and Bradford, Pa. The service of the Company extends into sixteen counties and the territory reached and supplied in whole or in part, embraces a population of more than 2,000,000. In addition to the sale of power on a wholesale basis which has always been an important factor in the Company's business, direct retail distribution is being constantly extended and now forms a very substantial portion of the total. The Company's retail customers now number approximately 22,000.

GROWTH: The business of the Company and its subsidiaries has shown remarkable growth, sales of power having increased from 96,575,110 K.W.H. in 1908 to 613,547,320 K.W.H. in 1923. Power sales and net revenues from sales in the three months ended March 31, 1924 were larger than for any corresponding period in the Company's history, gross revenue from sales showing an increase of 12% and net revenue from sales an increase of 28% over the same period in 1923.

EARNINGS: Consolidated net earnings of the Company and its subsidiaries available for dividends after deducting all charges, for the two years ended March 31, 1924 averaged $862,563 per annum, equivalent to 2.46 times the annual dividend requirements on $5,000,000 Preferred Stock. For the year ended March 31, 1924 such consolidated net earnings were $1,043,959, equivalent to approximately 3 times said dividend requirements.

EQUITY: The Company's outstanding Common Stock, upon which dividends of $2 per share per annum are being paid, represents at current quotations a market equity of about $11,000,000 junior to the Preferred Stock, exclusive of the $2,000,000 convertible debentures due 1926 which may be regarded as junior to the Preferred Stock.

PROPERTY: The Company has over 430 miles of private right of way, 4,500 acres of which are owned in fee, upon which are located more than 900 miles of high-tension transmission lines. In addition to its transmission system the Company owns a hydro-electric plant on the Salmon River near Syracuse with an installed capacity of 35,000 H.P. and steam plants located at Lyons and Olean, N. Y., having an installed capacity of over 45,000 H.P. It leases a hydro-electric plant on the Oswego River near the city of Oswego having an installed capacity of 12,000 H.P. and purchases from The Niagara Falls Power Company and The Ontario Power Company under long term contracts 130,000 hydro-electric H. P. giving the Company a total available supply of about 225,000 H. P.

All offerings are made when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to the prior subscription rights of stockholders and to the approval of our counsel of all legal details. Interim receipts will be deliverable in the first instance. The outstanding Preferred Stock is listed on the New York Stock Exchange and it is expected that application will be made in due course to list the present issue.

RESERVE BOARD
CONFERS SLIP
IN MARCH TRADE

BY O. A. MATHER.

The monthly review of the Federal Reserve board confirmed what for several weeks has been apparent, namely, that there has been some slackening in business and industry during March and early April. But the figures are not alarming, either when compared with January and February or March and April, last year, in all of which months the pace was abnormal.

Production in basic commodities declined 3 per cent in March, and this rate was continued in early April, according to the reserve board. The brunt of the decline was borne by the cotton mills and the coal and copper mines. Wholesale trade and department store sales in March were up 8 per cent from a year ago, while merchandise stocks increased 1 per cent.

May Be Due to Weather.

The fact that both wholesale and retail distribution showed less than the normal seasonal increase may be partly attributed to unseasonable weather. Wholesale prices declined 1 per cent in the month and were 6 per cent below a year ago. The level of factory employment was unchanged, but some curtailment in working hours was evidenced by a decline of 1 per cent in average weekly earnings.

March sales of agricultural machinery and equipment showed an increase of 14 per cent over February and were about the same as a year ago in contrast to the Chicago federal reserve bank. March production was slightly larger than in February, but more than 8 per cent below March, 1923. Production and sales of shoes showed little change in February, but were less than a year ago. Leather production receded slightly during the month, but sales were about the same as in February. Sales of meat packers in March declined 15 per cent from February and 3.5 per cent from March, 1923.

Oils Elevator Increases Capital.

Stockholders of the Oils Elevator company yesterday voted to increase the common stock from $15,000,000 to $25,000,000 and to reduce the par value from $100 to $20, exchanging the new shares for each share now held. Chairman W. H. Baldwin stated that it is the sentiment of the directors that a 10 per cent stock dividend should be declared.

"We have $20,000,000 in contracts on hand to be completed this year," he said. "Probably when the repatriation campaign is settled we will have some good business in Europe. We believe as time goes on our hopes as to foreign business will be justified. The English company is doing very well, the German plant is operating to some extent, and the French factory is about completed."

Oil Schedules Out of Line.

It has been no secret in the financial district that the heads of the large oil companies have had their schedules thrown out of kilter by the backward weather, an important consideration in gasoline consumption. One of them pointed out yesterday that Sunday was really the first day this year on which they had been able to get a line on what the probable consumption for the year will be.

Reports from their agents throughout the country on the sales of gasoline made on Sunday, the heads of these corporations said, were entirely satisfactory, reflecting the largest single day's sales of the year, and comparing favorably with the sales on any Sunday last year.

CORPORATION EARNINGS

GRAND WESTERN SUGAR.
Net earnings for the fiscal year ending Feb. 28, 1924, were $100,000. The total gross profit for the year was $142,000. This income was derived from $170,000 from operations, less $1,000 from interest income and $69,000 from dividends.

AMERICAN CHICHE.
Sales for the quarter ended March 31, 1924, showed an increase of 20.3 per cent over the first three months of last year. Profit after providing for all expenses, including depreciation and interest, but before income taxes, totaled $200,000 for the quarter. This compares with a profit of $140,000 for the corresponding period of 1923. American Chiche has also voted to appropriate $200,000 to reduction of bank and 6 per cent interest on $500,000 of preferred stock since Jan. 1, 1924.

PIERCE-ARROW MOTOR CAR.
For the quarter ended March 31, 1924, net earnings were $147,757 after charges against federal taxes and before federal taxes. The net income was $147,757, equal to $6.41 a share on the $244,528 shares of common, or at the annual rate of $24.48 a share. The net income for the quarter ended March 31, 1923, was $110,555, or $4.52 a share on the $244,528 shares of common, or at the annual rate of $13.56 a share.

FITZGERALD MALLEABLE IRON.
For the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1923, earnings available for dividends, after the deduction of depreciation and taxes, were $328,167, equivalent to $21.85 per share, as compared with $10.22 per share in 1922.

REPUBLIC STEEL.
March 31 quarter earnings of $3,049 after expenses, taxes, depreciation, etc., against $2,180 for the first quarter in 1923.

MAY WHEAT AND CORN ARE EASIER ON LIQUORATION

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Scattered liquidation was on in May wheat and corn, and spreading operations through the various deliveries furnished the bulk of the trading. Wheat was easy and closed 1/4% lower, while corn was unchanged to 1/8% higher, heavy buying by a house that was active on that side absorbed the offerings on an early break and made a strong rally. Oats were 1/4% lower and rye unchanged.

Wheat Visible Decrease.

A decrease of 2,643,000 bu. in the visible supply brought the total down to 52,731,000 bu., against 44,521,000 bu. last year, but was ignored as a market influence, as was the decrease of 1,616,000 bu. in supplies on ocean passage. Liverpool was up 1/4% in the face of estimates suggesting an Italian crop of 184,000,000 bu., or 39,000,000 bu. less than last year. Heavy new fall in parts of Canada, especially in the north, was reported for some days, but bullish developments fell flat throughout the day. The bulk of the trade was in selling May by scattered lots and replacing with the deferred deliveries. May closed at $1.25 1/2, $1.05 1/2, and September at $1.09 1/2.

Corn Average Lower.

While corn futures closed about the top, the average price for the day was lower with scattered liquidation. In the May wheat after the close, when a local house became a free buyer and absorbed the surplus in the pit. The trade was for the impression that the buying was to cover shorts for an early operation. May finished at 77c, July at 77 1/2c, and September at 75c.

Light Trade in Oats.

Oats had a range of 1/4% in the average prices for the day lower after a firm opening. Settlement is decidedly mixed, with the pit element showing a disposition to go slow until the situation becomes more clearly defined. Rainfall Sunday over part of the belt and was beneficial. Rye was dull with buying by houses with seaboard connections to the outstanding feature. No export sales were reported.

Barley were fair sellers of hard, and with a lack of aggressive support the price was 1/4% lower. There was considerable changing from July to September. Ribs were unchanged to 7 1/2c lower, and bellies 1/4% lower. Prices follow:
